Strong Bias Claimed

M'Carthy Defeated In Johnson Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen McCarthy lost today an attempt to get the Senate committee investigating censure charges against him to direct that its vice chairman, Sen Edwin C. Johnson, clarify his personal stand on the Wisconsin senator.

Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) ruled against McCarthy declaring "I can't see how any legal objection of any shape or form can be made (to Johnson's sitting on the committee) that could be maintained as a matter of law or a matter of fact."

Affirms Ruling

Watkins was affirming a ruling he made yesterday McCarthy and his attorney, Edward Barrett Williams had circulated to committee members a memo asking that the ruling be reversed and that Johnson be directed to say whether he was correctly quoted in a Denver Post article last March.

The memo said that statements attributed to Johnson, Colorado Democrat, "show a predilection and predisposition on his part" regarding the censure case against McCarthy.

Watkins said he believed he had the unanimous backing of the six-man committee in his stand Sen Ervin (D-NC) said he agreed 100 per cent with the chairman

"The committee is considering a censure resolution and 46 specific charges, some of them overlapping leveled at McCarthy by Senators Flanders (R-Vt) Morse (Ind-Ore) and Fulbright (D-Ark)

The charges range from abuse of a witness to slurring fellow senators and showing contempt of a subcommittee that investigated some of McCarthy's financial and other dealings in 1951.

The start of the new hearings on McCarthy coincided with a split verdict from a Senate subcommittee that refereed McCarthy's celebrated row with Army officials

The four subcommittee Republicans cleared McCarthy of personally using any improper influence to get special favors for his former consultant, Pvt G David Schine, but said he should have used a firmer hand on his staff The three Democrats said McCarthy "fully acquiesced in and condoned . . improper actions" on behalf of Schine and merits 'severe criticism"

Skipped Document Issue

Some of the issues in the McCarthy-Army ruckus, particularly relating to receipt and use of secret documents, are the basis of some of the charges in the new hearings. The subcommittee Republicans skipped the secret document question in their findings but the Democrats said McCar-

Stevens, Adams Rapped

McCarthy-Army Reports Center Criticism on Cohn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators who spent 36 turbulent days probing the McCarthy-Army row split last night on whether Sen McCarthy (R-Wis) was at fault, but all of them aimed barbs at Roy M Cohn and two high Army officials

Republicans and Democrats diverged in parceling out responsibility in the controversy. Republicans absolved McCarthy of improper conduct but said he had been lax Democrats attributed "inexcusable actions" to both the senator and Cohn, former chief counsel to the Senate Investigations subcommittee McCarthy heads.

Stevens, Adams Criticized

And both sides said Secretary of the Army Stevens had sought to appease McCarthy and Cohn and had failed to stand up for what he regarded as his rights Both were critical too of Army Counselor John G Adams

Cohn, 27, who bore the sharpest criticism from both sides, commented that apparently anyone who seeks to expose communism "has to contend not only with the smears of Communists but with partisan politics as well" Cohn is a Democrat

As for McCarthy, the Republicans said in their report that he had not tried personally to bring improper pressures to bear on the Army in behalf of Pvt G. David Schine, an unpaid subcommittee consultant before he was drafted last November The four GOP senators, however, said McCarthy should have exercised "more vigorous discipline" on his staff.

Take Stronger Stand

The three Democrats' report, on the other hand, said McCarthy deserved "severe criticism" and contended he had "fully acquiesced in and condoned" what they described as Cohn's improper tactics

The Democrats also said that Stevens and Adams, as well as McCarthy and Cohn, merited 'severe criticism' They said Stevens in the Schine affair had "pursued a course of appeasement" and had demonstrated "an inexcusable indecisiveness and lack of sound administrative judgment"

The Republicans, in somewhat

Ike To Make Law of Social Security Bill

President To Sign Legislation Today; Coverage Broadened

FRASER, Colo (AP) — President Eisenhower planned to sign into law today the big bill to extend the social security program and increase both benefits and payments

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the chief executive would approve the measure, one which he urged Congress to enact, at his vacation ranch here

The bill, the last major legislation passed by the 83rd Congress, increases present and future benefits boosts taxes to foot the bills and extends coverage of the system to 10 million additional persons

Starts in October

The higher benefit checks for 6½ million persons now on the rolls will go out in early October, a month before the fall elections.

Republicans make no bones of their expectation of reaping a political profit from the measure But Democrats in Congress contended the voters would not forget their party originated the social security system 20 years ago and long has fought to expand it.

All the five million retired persons now on the social security rolls will get a minimum increase of $5 a month effective with their September check. The average payment for these persons is expected to go up $6 to about $57 The 1½ million survivors and dependents will receive proportionate raises.

Future Benefits Hiked

The benefit formulas are rewritten so that future benefits will increase considerably For instance, the maximum payment for an individual will be $108 50, instead of $85 as at present For a couple the new maximum will be $162 75 instead of the present $127 50

The salary tax base will go up from $3 600 to $4,200 yearly effective next Jan 1 Thus an individual earning $4,200 or more a year will have to pay $12 in additional taxes starting in 1955, his employer must do the same For self-employed persons earning at least $4,200, the tax boost will be $18 The 2 per cent rate for employed workers and the 3 per cent rate for self-employed do not change until 1960.

Wide Compulsory Coverage

The new compulsory coverage provided in the bill will extend to 3,600 000 farm operators, 2,100,000 farm hands, 100,000 engineers, architects, accountants and undertakers, 250,000 domestic workers, 100,000 home workers and 50,000 persons in the fishing industry

Voluntary coverage is provided for 3,600,000 state and local government workers who must decide in referendums whether they wish to come in; 260,000 ministers and Christian Science practitioners, and 100,000 American citizens employed outside the United States by foreign subsidiaries of American companies.

Polio Finance Drive Extended To Next Week

The Emergency March of Dimes fund-raising campaign in Marion County, originally scheduled to conclude Tuesday evening, has been extended through this week, Bert Freed, campaign chairman, announced today.

The time extension was made because drive workers feel that some contributions are still outstanding, especially from a telephone-calling project undertaken last week

Residents are urged to turn in their contributions before the end of the week.

Freed reported that approximately $6,500 has been contributed by residents of the city and county as of today. Workers feel that with the outstanding contributions they should reach their goal of $8,000.

The cooperation of the campaign workers and the contributors was termed "splendid" by Freed, who expressed appreciation for the unsolicited projects Marionites have initiated for the polio drive's benefit.

THE SAVAGE HURRICANE that struck the New England coast Tuesday took at least 48 lives and caused millions of dollars of damage The upper photo shows rowboats and powerboats including the Wild Goose III owned by Bob Pinto of Philadelphia, driven aground at the Boston Yachting Club. In the lower picture, the ancient steeple of Boston's Old North Church is shown toppling at the height of the storm It was from this steeple that Paul Revere received the signal to alert "every Middlesex village and farm." State Agrees To Make Study Of City Traffic

Officials, However, Cannot Say When Survey Could Begin

Part of a proposed traffic survey for Marion will be done by the state highway department at no cost to the city But the survey could not be started for some time

This was a report made to Mayor Harold F. Robinson by A. F. Busch, chairman of a joint traffic committee of the Chamber of Commerce, as the first part of a three-point plan of action to obtain the survey.

Busch said today that John Heirer, chief of the planning section of the Department of Highways, told him in Columbus yesterday the state would make an origin-and-destination study both inside the city limits and on arterial highways outside the city at no cost to the city

The study is made to determine where automobiles, trucks, and all other vehicular traffic is coming from and where it is going It is taken to determine what streets and roads get the most usage and are most congested

Such a study requires from six months to a year to complete and

Democrats Lost Political Issue, Nixon Declares

GOP Stands To Keep Control of Congress, He Says in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—Vice President Nixon said today Democrats have lost their only big political issue because an economic recession has failed to appear and the Republicans stand to retain control of Congress

Nixon, here to speak at a workshop session of the Republican National Committee, told a news conference he does not see any compelling issue by which the Democrats can take over the Senate and House in the Nov. 2 election

"I don't see any issue that the Democrats have which can be used effectively," Nixon said

"The one they relied upon—an economic recession — has been pulled out from under them"

First Exchange Of Korea War Dead Is Begun

Bodies of 193 Yanks Among Initial 800 Handed Over by Reds

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The bodies of 800 men killed in the Korean War, including 193 Americans, started home today in the first exchange of soldiers who died and were buried in enemy territory.

The 193 Americans were among 200 Allied bodies which eight dark green Russian - built mortuary trucks delivered to the U N Command in a green valley of the neutral zone The seven other bodies were not identified as to nationality.

U S Army trucks brought to the exchange point the bodies of 500 Koreans and 100 Chinese soldiers

The exchange is expected to continue more than a month The Reds said they would turn over the bodies of 151 Americans, 3 Britons, 33 Koreans and 13 bodies unidentified as to nationality tomorrow

The Allies will deliver 600 more Communist bodies

The bodies received yesterday were taken by U S Army trucks southward into territory for solemn ceremonies in which Gen Maxwell D Taylor, 8th Army commander, and 40 chaplains of different faiths took part

The bodies will be kept in a white quonset hut until Sept 3 when they will be moved by train to Pusan and by ship to Kokura, Japan

Although the Communists supplied a list of names, none of the bodies will be identified until after positive identification is made from Washington. This may take several months.

Move To Arm West Germany

Efforts To Save Western Alliance Switch to Bonn

PARIS (AP) — The focus of the struggle to save the Western Alliance shifted today from France to West Germany. Allied diplomats pondered what new price the Germans would ask now in return for putting their soldiers on the defense line against Communist aggression.

One Western diplomat predicted that West Germany would demand — and get — the right to rearm without the restrictions the now-dead European Defense Community plan would have imposed.

German Position Strengthened

France's rejection of the European army, which America especially had considered the foundation of West European defense was described by one French leader as turning Germany loose to bargain with both East and West.

US Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' call for a meeting of the 14-nation NATO Council instead of the three occupying powers in West Germany was in itself taken as a new approach to European defense

Bonn Pact Doomed

Americans here who have been in touch recently with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and other West German officials said the big problem is to determine what new terms Germany might demand for joining up with the West

These sources considered that Adenauer's government now almost certainly would reject the Bonn agreement signed 27 months ago to restore restricted sovereignty to West Germany.

New England Worst Hit, Hundreds of Homes Gone

BOSTON (AP) — Hurricane Carol spent itself out in Canada today after ramming through the Northeast states with a fury that left at least 48 dead and property damage estimated at from 300 to 500 million dollars

The storm, which originated in the Caribbean Sea and expired north of Quebec City, did its worst damage in New England, where it cut a destructive path comparable to that of the 1938 hurricane

Hundreds of summer homes were destroyed and thousands of small boats were lost or damaged as the storm whipped wildly with gusts up to 125 m p h through New England. From the beaches of New London, Conn, it spread northward in a wide path across Rhode Island Cape Cod eastern and central Massachusetts and parts of New Hampshire, Maine and Vermont

Some officials estimated damage was the greatest property loss in New England by a hurricane

However, Hurricane Carol was so well plotted that loss of life was far below the toll of 317 persons who perished in the Sept 21, 1938, hurricane which struck New England without warning.

Utilities Hit Hard

Utilities companies said hundreds of communities may be without electricity for several days. At least 150 000 telephones were reported still "out" in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Maine

It was estimated the hurricane had left about a third of New England's 10 million population without power or electricity.

Gov Dennis J Roberts declared a state of martial law in Rhode Island after receiving reports that the damage in his state alone would total 50 million dollars

Early reports had 17 dead in Rhode Island, highest of any state followed by Massachusetts with 15 Other storm - caused deaths were reported in New Hampshire, Maine Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Vermont, Connecticut, New York and Canada

Several communities declared a state of emergency.

Guard Called Out

National Guard troops patrolled the streets of at least a half-dozen Massachusetts communities to prevent looting of storm - battered homes and stores.

An estimated 20 000 persons evacuated Cape Cod homes just ahead of a 20-foot tidal wave Police estimated that 1 000 cottages were smashed to kindling on Cape beaches

Armed troops patrolled darkened streets of some Cape Cod towns as evacuees slept in public buildings and at homes of the more fortunate

Thief Steals Coins From 'Dimes' Box

A search was begun by police Tuesday for their number one candidate for "meanest thief of the year" honors.

Workers at the Columbus Ignition Co on S Main St reported Tuesday that a sneak thief had cut open a March of Dimes collection box at the store and taken all but a few pennies from the container. No estimate of the loss was made

He had evidently come into the store while employes were not looking and stole the money, police said.

Two Brothers Tell Police of Wave of Thefts

Youths Plead Guilty To Armed Robbery Of Bill's Place Cafe

Two Marion brothers, charged with an armed robbery of Bill's Place restaurant on Chenoy Ave, early Tuesday, pleaded guilty in Municipal Court this morning and were bound to the grand jury under $5,000 bonds each.

They were George Leonard Holt 22, of 443 Milburn Ave, and Nolan Eugene Holt, 19, of 465 Mound St Police said they had confessed a wave of burglaries and robberies

Two-Week Watch

Arrest of the pair was made by Police Captain Justin E Cornely and Juvenile Officer Virgil Campbell after nearly two weeks of watching them and checking on their activities.

Police Chief Thomas Coon said the brothers came under suspicion after the robbery of Charles Dix of 223 S. High St, while he was at work alone at a railroad telegraph station on the C & O Railroad just south of Bellefontaine Ave on Aug 21.

In that robbery, a youth walked into the building, pulled a gun on Dix and escaped with some $3

From the description given by Dix, police suspected Nolan and began watching both him and his brother.

Launch Search

After learning neither of the brothers was at home yesterday morning after the hold-up at Bill's Place, police began searching for them.

Nolan was arrested as he walked along at State and Center Sts at 10 04 a m. and George was arrested at his residence at 1 13 p m.

In subsequent questioning by Cornely and Campbell, the pair admitted the following break-ins and robberies in addition to hold-ups of Bill's Place and of Dix, Coon said:

On Aug. 20, the night before robbing Dix, they broke into the Consumer's Gas Service office on Route 4 south of Marion. They

Death Unexpected

Sen. Maybank Stricken, Dies After Heart Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Veteran Sen Burnet R. Maybank (D-SC) died unexpectedly early today in Flat Rock, N C, of a heart attack He was 55

A member of the family said Maybank was stricken without warning late last night. He said a doctor was called, but the senator died at 12 15 a m.

His death cuts the number of Democrats in the Senate to 46. There are 48 Republicans and 1 independent.

However, in traditionally Democratic South Carolina there was no doubt a Democrat would be named to succeed him.

Maybank first was elected to the Senate in 1941 to fill an unexpired term created by the resignation of

Mason Heads Group Backing Local Charter

Robert T. Mason yesterday was selected chairman of the campaign committee to promote passage of the proposed city charter in the November elections.

He was chosen by a five-member group set up at a public meeting last month to choose a chairman and name an executive committee.

Jack Weis was chosen vice chairman and Lawrence Sager chairman of the finance committee. Robert Byrd will be chairman of publicity; Robert Kibbey chairman of speakers and meetings; and Mrs. Helen Axe chairman of the city-wide campaign.

All these persons are members of the executive committee which will be expanded as the campaign progresses. The executive committee is now attempting to form a general committee to carry on the work of promoting the passage of the charter.

A joint gathering of the general and executive committees will be held at the YMCA Sept. 13 at 7:30 p.m., to outline the program and method for conducting the campaign.

Main purpose of the group will be to publicize the provisions of the proposed charter and to persuade the public to accept it in the elections.

GOP

In response to questions, Nixon said that he recognizes there are some states in which the economic situation is spotty. He said that where such depressed areas find Republicans now in office there is a chance the GOP will lose seats in the House.

On the other hand, he said he believes there are areas where such losses will be made up and additional Republicans elected. He cited California, his home state, as one, asserting that Republicans may gain one and possibly two House seats there.

publicans

In the over-all, Nixon said, he expects the Republicans to match their record-breaking turnout for the 1952 presidential election but believes the Democratic and independent vote will fall off in this non-presidential year battle for control of Congress.

Nixon told reporters he thinks President Eisenhower has picked the right type of campaign—paralleling in some respects that conducted by Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1934—to reverse the usual off-year trend of loss in congressional strength by the party in power at the White House.

Nixon said that Eisenhower will "make positive speeches emphasizing the over-all record of his administration and not getting into personalities and not assuming a negative attitude on any question."

Nixon said Eisenhower will avoid any attempts to purge party members and will campaign for all Republican candidates.

He said, however, that it seemed obvious to him GOP candidates who support the Eisenhower program fully will get the most benefit out of the President's campaign efforts.

Nixon would not comment on how much actual political touring he expects Eisenhower to do. He indicated, however, that there is no thought on the part of the President of duplicating the whistle stop effort of former Democratic President Truman in the 1950 campaign.

Nixon flew into town last night with the observation that he would be "too busy with other things" even to read the reports of a Senate Investigations subcommittee which criticized in varying degrees the actions of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Secretary of the Army Stevens in their televised controversy.

Nixon told reporters he thinks a proposed GOP National Committee statement of issues stressing a "peace, progress and prosperity" theme offers "good objectives to emphasize in the campaign."

National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, who told Nixon party leaders are "confident but not overconfident" of retaining control of both houses in the November balloting, dismissed the McCarthy-Army report as unlikely to have much, if any, effect on the outcome.

Hall said, with an air of not caring, that he has no knowledge of any plans McCarthy may have to campaign for Republican senatorial candidates.

A conference subcommittee, headed by Harry Darby of Kansas, brushed aside the anti-Communist issue with three brief sentences in a 950-word campaign document which said the "basic issue" before the voters is:

"The Eisenhower administration must have a Republican Congress to complete the Republican program of peace, progress and prosperity, now well under way."

Expected adoption of this slogan appeared to represent complete agreement by party organization leaders with President Eisenhower's contention that his legislative program — and not a continuing controversy with the Democrats over Communist hunts — represents the best bet for Republican candidates.

In its report, the Darby subcommittee credited the Eisenhower administration with having "weeded out 2,400 security risks found on the federal payroll."

It glossed over Democratic authorship and support in the closing days of Congress for a bill to strip the Communist party of legal rights by observing merely that "the Republican 83rd Congress has given the Department of Justice potent new legal weapons for vigorous prosecution of spies and traitors," adding:

"We will continue our relentless and effective fight against Communists."

National committee members indicated in advance of expected formal action their approval of the Darby subcommittee report, which listed as major accomplishments of the Republicans "strengthening of national defense," development of "a dynamic and expanding economy" and provisions for increased security for older and handicapped persons.

On the peace theme, the report said "the killing of our boys in Korea has been ended" and "American troops are not fighting anywhere."

similar language, held that Stevens "followed a course of placation, appeasement and vacillation throughout the period leading up to this controversy when he should have asserted himself by protesting" promptly any efforts in Schine's behalf which he regarded as improper.

Cohn 'Unduly Aggressive'

The Republicans said Cohn was "unduly aggressive and persistent" in behalf of Schine, a wealthy New Yorker and his close friend.

More bluntly, the Democrats said Cohn "misused and abused the powers of his office and brought disrepute to the subcommittee" by what they called his persistent and unjustified efforts to win special privileges for Schine.

The verdicts of the investigating senators, officially released last night, had been awaited since they concluded their televised hearings June 17.

McCarthy stepped off the subcommittee for the investigation, turning over the chairmanship temporarily to Sen. Mundt (R-SD).

He told newsmen he would have no comment at this time on the reports.

Schine, stationed at Camp Gordon, Ga., told newsmen: "I have not read the accounts of the Senate committee report and I have absolutely no comment to make at this time."

Cohn Issues Statement

Cohn issued this statement in New York:

"The American people have seen and heard what took place at these hearings. They are the jury. Their decision is what counts. And they have given me tremendous support in this controversy and in my work in the prosecution of Communists and spies.

"It is now apparent that anyone who associates himself with the cause of exposing atheistic Communist infiltration has to contend not only with the smears of Communists but with partisan politics as well."

There was no immediate comment from Stevens or Adams.

The Republicans who signed their report were Senators Mundt, Dirksen of Illinois, Potter of Michigan and Dworshak of Idaho.

The Democratic report was turned in by Senators McClellan of Arkansas, Jackson of Washington and Symington of Missouri.

File Separate Statements

In addition, Potter and Dirksen submitted separate statements supplementing the views expressed in the majority report.

In his, Potter said Cohn used "the full power of his position" in efforts to obtain preferential treatment for Schine and was "unrelenting to the point of harassment" at a time when the subcommittee was investigating the Army.

He also said McCarthy "gave the strength of sanction" to Cohn's efforts by failing at any time to express disapproval of them.

Dirksen, on the other hand, said a review of monitored telephone calls placed in evidence at the hearings "impels the conclusion that the secretary of the Army entertained no belief of improper means or influence on the part of Sen. McCarthy or his staff."

First Hints of Controversy

He also said it was not until late in January, after McCarthy had served notice that he intended to subpena members of the Army loyalty board for questioning, that the "first hints" of the controversy over Schine came to light.

Calling this significant, Dirksen asked how one could escape the conviction that the Schine matter "would never have been revealed" had McCarthy not insisted on summoning loyalty board members to appear before the subcommittee.

Both the Republican and Democratic reports commented on unresolved conflicts of testimony at the stormy hearings and left it to the Justice Department to determine whether perjury was involved. Atty. Gen. Brownell has said the record is being studied.

Ignore Document

The GOP senators made no mention in their findings of a 2¼-page document, one of the sensations of the hearings, which McCarthy offered in support of his contention the Army had been lax in dealing with suspected subversives.

Traffic

involves making a count of all vehicular traffic on highways and streets being checked several days at a time. It also involves stopping a certain percentage of the vehicular traffic to inquire where the driver came from, where he is going and what route he is following.

Data Analyzed

This data is compiled and analyzed and is used by traffic engineers as the basis of a comprehensive survey of the improvements needed to correct congestion on city streets and highways leading into the city.

Next step in the three-point plan toward obtaining such a survey for Marion will be taken by Mayor Robinson. He is to write to various traffic engineering firms and ask them for an estimate of the cost of the survey. Deadline for their replies is Sept. 30.

On Oct. 4, City Council and the Marion County Commissioners will meet to discuss the estimates and decide whether they will appropriate any additional money which may be needed to pay for the survey.

$20,000 Estimate

Previous estimates obtained a year ago from two engineering firms set the cost at some $20,000. So far a total of $11,500 has been raised. Of this amount, $6,000 came from the city, $2,000 from the county, and $3,500 from public solicitation.

Busch noted that the state will make the "O and D" study only after it is guaranteed in the form of a contract that the engineering traffic survey is to be made.

He also said that Heirer told him that the state highway survey crew is presently swamped with work and likely could not make the study in Marion for some time to come.

Closing of Road Sought

Vacation of Madalyn Dr. in the Wheeler addition east of Marion was asked by a group of nearby residents in a petition filed Tuesday with Marion County commissioners.

Vacation of the road is requested from Linda Mel Dr. to Wheeler Dr. Commissioners set Sept. 20 to view the road and Sept. 30 for the hearing.

Harvey Crump and others are signers of the petition.

Hurricane

Island spilled over into the state capitol's downtown area, a half-hour before high tide. Within an hour the entire business district was under four feet of water.

In Westerly, R. I., automobiles parked on the main street were covered completely by the flood waters.

200 Cottages Swept Away

About 200 summer homes were reported swept away by the hurricane at Atlantic Beach, Westerly. Damage in Newport, R.I., alone, was estimated in the millions. The famed Newport Casino was wrecked. So were many buildings on equally famous Bailey's Beach and Easton's Beach.

The casino was only one of many New England landmarks destroyed.

In Boston, the steeple of the Old North Church—from which lanterns were hung to send Paul Revere on his famous midnight ride—crashed to the ground.

Scores of stately elms on Boston Common were among the thousands of trees felled as the storm swept viciously on its course. In many cases, falling trees carried with them power and telephone lines and blocked streets for hours.

The Massachusetts Department of Agriculture reported the hurricane blew more than a million and a half bushels of apples, nearly ready to be picked, from the branches of trees. Heavy damage to the apple crops also was reported in Maine.

Damage Set at $15 Millions

An Agriculture Department spokesman said the corn crop in Massachusetts was destroyed, half the peach crop was damaged and the tomato crop suffered heavy loss. Crop damage was estimated at 15 million dollars in Massachusetts alone.

Damage in Connecticut was fairly general in a 25-mile belt bordering Long Island Sound.

New Haven Railroad trains ground to a halt when flood waters covered the tracks between New London and Westerly. About 2,000 passengers of one stranded train had to be taken to their destinations by buses.

New Storm in Atlantic May Spawn Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A tropical storm with winds of 65 miles per hour in squalls formed today in an easterly wave in the Atlantic.

At 9 a. m., EST, the storm was centered about 675 miles east of Daytona Beach, Fla., moving northward at 18 to 20 miles per hour.

The tropical disturbance, named Dolly for the fourth letter in the alphabet, developed from an easterly wave which has been under close observation the past two days.

Easterly waves are bands of bad weather moving from east to west across the Atlantic or Caribbean. Hurricanes sometimes develop from them at this time of year.

GALION BOOKS ON SALE

GALION—Books will be on sale for pupils of the Galion public school at the senior high school building today, Thursday and Friday. This announcement was made by the office of the superintendent of schools. The books may be secured on these days from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. in Room 108. Books and supplies for all grades, elementary through senior high school, will be available at the same time and place. Galion schools open Sept. 7.

French Facing Substantial Cut In U.S. Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—Strong pressures are reported building up in the government to make Germany and Spain, rather than France, the mainstays of U.S. defense strategy for Western Europe.

A major debate on France's role in this country's political-military policies was forecast today by informed officials, who said the central question, starkly stated, is this:

Should the United States switch its main strategic emphasis, with more of its military aid dollars and supplies, from France to her neighbors on the east and west?

Reappraisal Due

Secretary of State Dulles announced yesterday that France's rejection of the proposed European Defense Community, which envisioned a 12-division German army, impels the United States "to reappraise its foreign policies."

At the same time he demanded American-British-French action to give West Germany sovereignty. He called also for an emergency meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to consider the whole situation.

The United States may propose at this NATO meeting that West Germany should be rearmed directly under NATO. It was learned Dulles feels that should be the major problem of the special session.

Not Before October

Dulles wants the 14-nation NATO meeting to be held at cabinet level—a full-dress session of foreign, defense and finance ministers—and this probably cannot be arranged before October at the earliest.

In a mood of acknowledged frustration though not despair, Dulles left Washington by plane last night for Manila to join ministers of seven other nations, starting Monday, in concluding negotiation of a Southeast Asia defense alliance.

It is not yet certain that Washington will take the lead in formally proposing German membership in NATO. Some officials say that as a matter of tactics it would be better for one of Germany's neighbors to make the move.

German Sovereignty

The United States and Britain are expected to press France, meanwhile, for prompt agreement for sovereignty for West Germany through a series of "peace contracts." These agreements had been dependent upon creation of EDC. Now Washington and London want to scrap that condition. The idea is to give West Germany as much control over her affairs as is possible in the light of East-West division of the country, blocking a formal peace treaty.

Rearming of Germany under NATO would get around the objections of French EDC opponents who argued against creation of a kind of supermilitary government among the six EDC nations.

Robbery

took nothing in this break-in.

Following the hold - up of Dix, they went to Pt. Pleasant, W. Va. where they held a room clerk at the Lowe Hotel at the point of a gun while they rifled the cash register and escaped with $53.

Steal Automobile

Returning to Marion, they broke into the Marion Lincoln-Mercury garage on Route 4 south of the city and stole an automobile owned by Claude Jerew of 631 N. Main St.

Driving this car to N. State St. they parked it and while George remained in the car, Nolan walked into the Snyder Hotel. Pulling a gun on the room clerk, he rifled the cash register and escaped with $13.

Nolan and George then drove to Columbus where they abandoned the stolen car and returned to Marion.

Their next robbery was at Bill's Place, Monday night, according to their confessions to city police.

They also said they broke into a bowling alley in Upper Sandusky, but this has not yet been confirmed, Police Chief Coon said.

Authorities from Logan County are also interested in the pair as possible suspects in a series of robberies and burglaries there, Chief Coon said.

Car Knocks Over Fence Near City

A car driven by Tom Marshall, 52, of Kenton, went out of control Tuesday on Route 95, one and six-tenths miles west of Marion, and tore down 50 feet of farm fence, marking the only highway accident in the county investigated by state highway patrolmen from Marion.

The mishap occurred at 3:40 p.m. when the westbound Marshall car tore down 50 feet of fence owned by Lowell R. Guthery of 451 Merchant Ave. The right side of the car was extensively damaged, but the driver was not injured.

City police reported only one accident. It involved less than $100 damage.

European

The Germans ratified that accord on the basis that the companion EDC treaty rearming them would also be approved, and that the six-nation organization would save democratic forces in Germany itself from a resurrection of overriding militarism.

"The West will offer partial sovereignty to Germany," said one Western diplomat, "but out of the negotiations almost certainly will come complete sovereignty" — including the right to unrestricted rearmament.

Former French Premier Paul Reynaud pin-pointed this prospect in the National Assembly yesterday during a bitter criticism of Premier Pierre Mendes-France for his failure to put EDC over.

"What will you do tomorrow if demands are made for return of German sovereignty?" Reynaud asked Mendes-France. "You will be obliged to agree to it without the advantages of EDC. It will be the reconstitution of the Wehrmacht that already has paraded down the Champs Elysees and in the cities of France."

Antoine Pinay, France's Premier when the EDC treaty was signed, joined in the debate to quote Mendes-France as saying last April that the only choice was "EDC or rearmament of Germany without any controls."

"Has the Premier's mind changed today?" he queried.

There was no answer from Mendes-France.

The debate also aired another big worry: Now that EDC has been rejected, what is to prevent West Germany from inviting bids from the Russians.

"France now has placed Germany again in the tempting position to see-saw between the Communists and the West," said Pierre-Henri Teitgen, president of the Catholic, pro-EDC Popular Republican Movement (MRP). "The government knew the risks. What does it plan to do? Nothing, or almost nothing."

Mendes-France earlier had told the Assembly he hopes for the quick establishment of some other defense setup in which Britain would participate fully, rather than the "earthy cooperation" she promised EDC. The Premier thinks such close British association would allay French fears that Germany will dominate any organization of which the British are not members.

"Any pact in which Britain is missing is incomplete," he told the Assembly yesterday.

McCarthy

thy "may have violated the law" and deserved "severe criticism" for that too.

The question of how Johnson stands on McCarthy set off the one explosion at yesterday's curtain-raiser hearing on the demands that McCarthy's conduct be condemned as tending to bring the Senate into disrepute.

With a heavy hand on the gavel, Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) squelched McCarthy into silence on the issue. He ruled that it had no place in the hearings, that the Senate itself set up the committee and the committee has no power to disqualify the Colorado senator or even accept his resignation.

McCarthy came through with a countermove.

He told newsmen he was sending today to Watkins and all five other members of the committee a memo calling for a reversal of the ruling. His attorney, Edward Barret Williams, said that if for any reason a member of the investigating committee "has entered this case with a predisposition for or against either side, it ought to be known."

Watkins and other members declined advance comment on the request for a reversal.

Watkins told newsmen that "we are not investigating any member of the committee" and "we are not concerned" with the accuracy or inaccuracy of a Denver Post story last March quoting Johnson on McCarthy. That, Watkins said, is "completely immaterial and irrelevant."

The Denver newspaper quoted Johnson as saying that "in my opinion, there is not a man among the Democratic leaders of Congress who does not loathe Joe McCarthy."

Johnson assured the committee in a formal statement yesterday that "I have full faith in my ability to weigh the charges which have been made against Sen. McCarthy together with whatever evidence may be presented without prejudice."

He said in an interview today he would have nothing to add to that "to reporters, to McCarthy, other senators or anyone else."

McCarthy and Williams said they wanted Johnson to say whether or not he was quoted accurately by the Post, that he had promised to say so and hadn't done it.

ATTEND GRADUATION

Mrs. Noble Hollaway and Miss Mary Hollaway of 394 Chestnut St. have returned from Oxford where they attended graduation ceremonies at Miami University for their niece and cousin, Miss Esther Marie Coy. They also visited in Burlington, Ky. Miss Coy will teach in a Lorain junior high school beginning Sept. 8. She is the daughter of Mrs. Nevada Blake Coy of Cincinnati, former Marion residents.

Legion Returns To Work After Biggest Parade

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tired but still-exuberant Legionnaires turned back to serious convention business today after staging one of the largest parades in the nation's history.

Up for decision were a basketful of resolutions on important subjects—such as universal military training, foreign policy and medical treatment for veterans.

And once again, on this third day of the American Legion's annual get-together, some of the country's leading figures were on hand to address the country's largest veterans' organization.

Hear AFL Head

One scheduled speaker was AFL president George Meany, who criticized President Eisenhower's foreign policy. He declared in prepared remarks that Eisenhower has told the country to stop thinking in terms of world leadership—an attitude, Meany said, which "can lead only into the blind alley of defeat."

Veterans Administrator Harvey V. Higley, in another prepared address, figures that the government's potential obligation to future veterans is climbing at the rate of 45 million dollars for each month the Korean emergency stays on the books.

Higley said those who would curb federal benefits to veterans are using this fact—that the state of emergency has never legally been declared ended—to further their arguments.

11½-Hour Parade

Many a blue-capped Legionnaire was still rubbing the sleep from his eyes as he hurried to today's convention business—a few scant hours after the mammoth 11½ hour parade of some 125,000 down historic Pennsylvania Avenue.

That was the largest procession ever of drum majorettes, Legionnaires, ladies' auxiliary members and fun-poking 40-and-8ers. The old record was 70,000 plus at New York in 1947.

Washington Police Chief Robert V. Murray, who hovered along the 11½-mile route in a helicopter, estimated the number of watchers at 750,000 to a million. He said it was Washington's biggest crowd since the nation's championship two-day parade at the end of the Civil War.

Maybank

James F. Byrnes, now governor of South Carolina. He was re-elected in 1942 and in 1948.

A native of Charleston, S.C., he served as his state's governor in 1939-41. In private life he was a cotton exporter.

He was a member of the Senate's Banking and Appropriations committees and was particularly active in the field of housing legislation.

During his 13 years in the capital, the genial, ruddy-faced senator gained a reputation for his ability to put through the Senate the many varieties of legislation produced by the Banking Committee.

Maybank is the eighth senator to die in the 83rd Congress.

Four others have died this year: Hugh Butler (R-Neb), Clyde P. Hoey (D-NC), Lester C. Hunt (D-Wyo) and Dwight Griswold (R-Neb).

Three died last year: Willis Smith (D-NC), Charles W. Tobey (R-NH) and Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio).

Maybank was a staunch supporter of the late President Roosevelt, but like many other Southern senators he broke with the Truman administration over civil rights. He voted also to override President Truman's veto of the Taft-Hartley Act.

On the other hand, he voted consistently for the Truman administration's farm policy and the Marshall Plan for European recovery.

He stuck with the national Democratic party in 1952 when Byrnes supported President Eisenhower and almost swung the state for the Republican nominee.

Power Problem

By George Sokolsky

Admiral Lewis Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, recently reported:

"When our present building program is finished, the American people will have spent about $8.5 billion dollars on plants. We already own a vast industrial establishment which, at today's replacement values, is probably worth much more than it cost. All of the major product which has been produced, that is to say the fissionable material to make atomic weapons, can be used just as well to make power, if it is ever safe to do so — safe, that is, in the international political sense. The material is not perishable in the ordinary sense.

"VIEWED IN THIS light, therefore, we have used our billions to build a capital plant and to stockpile uranium, plutonium and other special materials as enormous reserves which may ultimately return their cost to us — perhaps far more than that — in the production of useful electrical energy."

This may be viewed from many standpoints. As a statement of accomplishment, it speaks well for the AEC. As a statement of preparation for war, it gives us confidence that we shall be able to retaliate against an aggressor or make war if necessary.

But when one approaches this statement in terms of the perpetuation of the capitalist system, the fact must stand out that here is a government - owned industry, in which to date $8,500,000,000 has already been invested in plant and equipment — and more to come; that sooner or later, the present privately - owned power plants, using either coal or water, will be obsolescent; that even the government - owned TVA, which was supposed to generate hydroelectric power but is now the largest consumer of coal, will also be obsolescent.

THE AMERICAN SOCIAL system is based upon the private ownership of wealth, upon private ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange.

The principal commodity in our industrial system is power, electrical power, as it is today; perhaps atomic power, as it may be in the future.

Electricity is a manufactured product, developed either by coal in the form of steam or by the force of running water or a combination of both. It would be correct to say that coal and water are the principal natural resources that go into the manufacture of electricity.

Coal is privately - owned in the United States. Water, when it is a river, is a government monopoly to be employed at the discretion of the federal government; but water may also be municipally or privately - owned. All the products of atomic fission are government-owned.

WHAT HAPPENS to our society when electric power, the principal product of our economy, is entirely owned by the government? What steps will be taken to protect the private owners of the present producers of electrical power when atomic power makes their industries obsolescent?

True, the recent Atomic Energy Act takes some cognizance of the private carriers of atomic energy. But what is to be done about the enormous plant and equipment in which billions of private capital have been invested — an investment which must become obsolescent without giving these plants any opportunity to shift from old to new methods of production because of a government monopoly?

What plans are being made for the social adjustments that have to take place among those who are employed in the coal industry?

DURING THE WAR, I wrote that the coal inudstry was dying and that the day would come when coal would be mined principally for the chemical industry, but not for the production of light, heat, and power.

The idea of coal becoming a minor mineral seemed at the time absurd. Now it is a fact that needs to be faced seriously, particularly in the anthractie regions where there is already human suffering because of the displacement of coal by other commodities.

This problem is not being faced realistically. For even now residual oil, a competitor of coal, is being brought into this country at a ridiculously non-competitive price.

There is no need for residual oil in the United States and it should be kept out of the country altogether. It serves no particularly useful economic purpose and does great social damage to coal-mining areas.

It is an example of the total lack of foresight among those who emphasize planning as an important government function.

Third Party

By Victor Riesel

Governor Dewey's camp has won another major fight inside the White House. It has convinced President Eisenhower to promise labor's top leaders some mighty important concessions in the final weeks of the congressional campaign.

RIESEL

The President now plans to go to the AFL convention in Los Angeles in a few weeks. Both behind the scenes at a lunch or breakfast and on the parley platform in the Hotel Ambassador there, Mr. Eisenhower will pledge that he will give top priority to a fight in the next Congress to junk those sections of the Taft-Hartley law which labor hates most.

BUT THE AFL chiefs will rebuff his gesture. In everything but actual name they are running, in coalition with CIO and railroad unions, a third major political party. Regardless of what he will say, Mr. Eisenhower will be sharply assailed at the convention. In blunt terms, expressed by the AFL's political director, Jim McDevitt, the labor people now have decided that they "must have a friend in the White House."

So, with the exception of Teamsters Union president Dave Beck, the nation's labor leaders have decided to blame Mr. Eisenhower personally for everything.

Labor's current campaign—already considerably successful—is just a prelude to building a tightly organized national machine in preparation for the 1956 presidential election.

Hardly noticed by the rest of the nation, labor on a local level has come near mathing the major parties dollar for dollar in expenditures. But it has put into the precincts ten times the manpower available to either the Democrats or Republicans.

FOR THE MOMENT the labor coalition is content with backing a heavy majority of Democratic candidates—with exceptions in California, where labor has split in the state race, and in Michigan, where the powerful young Jim Hoffa, second in command of the teamsters, has been fighting Governor "Soapy" Williams, the ardent friend and political ally of the CIO and Walter Reuther's Auto Workers Union.

However, with a dozen labor mayors and as many important state and local officials already in office, the labor coalition is determined that from now on it will demand an increasing number of nominations for union leaders themselves, even for top state and national offices. Such a drive has already begun in New York.

To get these nominations—from the GOP as well as the Democrats—the labor coalition hopes to point to the 1954 campaign as evidence of its power. Quetly it has been talking of its role in the Texas primaries, for example.

THE NATIONAL CIO, the AFL Teamsters and the powerful AFL International Assn. of Machinists, among others, threw considerable money into the drive to oust Texas' Governor Shivers. Although the coalition didn't quite beat Shivers, the power of the virtually unheard of Texas labor political high command was shown in its success in beating Congressman Wingate Lucas, who is against industry-wide bargaining and for state control of strikes and picketing.

The dynamo of this campaign was the Machinists' Non-Partisan Political League of Texas, based, it seems to me, on the 20,000 members the Machinists Union has in the comparatively new (as industries go) Convair B-36 plant outside of Fort Worth.

Thus as big industries move south and the major unions follow, the political picture is being repainted by the labor coalition. In Texas there already is a combined union membership of approximately 450,000.

THE TEAMS ACTIVITY has been duplicated by the coalition in Tennessee, Alabama, North Carolina and Virginia, to mention just a few outside the traditional industrial states where labor's political power is as much part of the scenery as a smoke stack.

By far the most intriguing part of this political activity is the innovations which the labor strategists have made permanent sections of their political machinery. In Minnesota, for example, where labor feels one of its most vital election battles is taking place, the coalition has set up "phonorama" squads for the re-election of Sen. Hubert Humphrey, the unions' favorite son.

After spending thousands of dollars on electronic equipment to prepare lists (filling 14 columns) of unregistered voters, the unions set up a state-wide squad of 1,500 members, each assigned to make 100 calls. Same thing at election time, to remind 150,000 families to register and vote for Hubert.

-:-

THE SIDNEY HILLMAN Foundation has produced a movie starring Harry S. Truman "to clarify the major election issues." It will be nationally distributed.

The CIO in Cook County (Chicago) campaigning for the re-election of Sen. Paul Douglas, has set up permanent precinct leadership training courses.

In Virginia, the CIO has run "Family Participation in Politics Conferences." Labor's emphasis on the women's vote everywhere is enormous.

Labor believes, and is saying, it holds the balance of power among the nation's 100,000,000 eligible voters. It plans to try to prove it in the next 24 months.

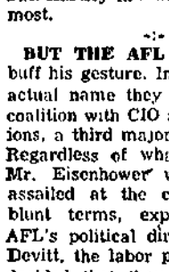
Modern Pawn Broker

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

One little known sign of prosperity today is the fact that pawnbrokers are doing well.

Our business is better in good times than bad times," explained Clarence Kaskel, 65, who likes being called "the Tiffany of pawn brokers."



HAL BOYLE

"When people earn more money, they like to spend more. And if they see something they want and don't have any cash, they don't mind pawning something else temporarily to get it.

"There are a lot of misconceptions in the public mind about our industry. For example, few realize that women pawn things more often than men do, or that 90 per cent of pawned valuables are reclaimed within a few months."

IF YOU WANT TO HOCK your Uncle Willie's broken-stringed old college mandolin for two bucks, please don't bother Kaskel. On the other hand, if you want a $5,000 advance on a $25,000 diamond bracelet so you can take a trip to Europe, why—he's your man.

Kaskel, whose father founded the family firm back in 1882, is now a pawnbroker to the upper middle classes, the upper classes, and the upper upper classes. He recently opened a $250,000 shop on West 57th St.—a stone's throw (diamond, ruby or emerald) from Fifth Avenue.

No trio of gold balls, symbol of his ancient trade, hang above the entrance. But there is a private doorway, leading into a small, tastefully furnished salon, for those who want to pawn in privacy.

"Many society women send their maids in from the suburbs in a chauffeur-driven car to avoid embarrassment," said Kaskel. "Others come themselves, and see nothing embarrassing in it at all.

"The white collar people who get hit by an emergency or try to live beyond their means are the backbone of the pawn brokerage business. But those in the upper brackets pawn things quite often too—even millionaires—when they need some ready money to tide them over until their next dividend check comes in."

ONE WEALTHY-LOOKING lady kept pawning jewelry regularly, complaining her oil royalties were being tied up by the trouble in Iran.

"We almost came to believe she was making up the story," said Kaskel. "But as soon as things cleared up in Iran she went over there to sign new leases, and I understand she now has an income of a million a year."

Another cultured lady—she had a British accent so thick you could identify her in a fog—came in recently to borrow some money on a mink coat because "I simply must get me some new rags while I'm here." When she was handed the loan certificate to sign; she asked:

"Shall I put down my title, too?"

What do people pawn? Kaskel says about 65 per cent of the items are jewelry, 25 per cent furs, 10 per cent objects of art.

But he also has advanced money on such oddity baubles of the rich as a $12,000 Ming vase, an $18,000 Rolls Royce, a walking stick made from a rhinoceras tusk, and coin and stamp collections.

"In the old days people used to pawn even horses," Kaskel recalled. "We had one customer, a vaudeville star, who used to pawn his performing dog between engagements. We did business with him because my mother loved the little dog."

Boy Buried 90 Minutes By Cave-In Found Alive

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Shoveling frantically for an hour and a half, a gang of sewer line diggers yesterday rescued a 16-year-old youth trapped under six feet of earth.

John Ricco, a member of the digging crew, was working alone at the bottom of a 14-foot ditch when the cave-in started.

Air that escaped from a hydraulic drill he was using was believed to have helped keep him alive. He was taken to a hospital, but no injuires were found.

The 58,000 poliomyelitis case in the United States in 1953 set an all-time high.

Pfc. Obenour Drowns

Army Confirms Marion Man's Death in Alaska

The death by drowning of a Marion serviceman, Pfc. Rex A. Obenour, 21, which occurred Aug. 1 in Alaska, has been confirmed. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin G. Obenour of 482 N. Greenwood St., were notified in a telegram from the Secretary of the Army Monday night.

Pfc. Obenour previously had been reported missing as a result of a boating accident.

IN A LETTER from Pfc. Obenour's commanding officer, Capt. Norman J. Biglione of Headquarters and Headquarters Co., Third Battalion, Fourt Infantry Division, at Ladd Air Force Base near Fairbanks, Alaska, where he was stationed, Pfc. Obenour's parents have learned the details of the accident.

According to the letter, Pfc. Obenour and six other members of his company had gone to Tangle Lake, Alaska, on a three-day approved recreation trip. The lake is 207 miles south of Fairbanks. About 5:30 on the morning of Aug. 1, he and three others, Cpl. Earl Parris, Pfc. Roger Taylor and a Pvt. Foster, obtained a boat for a ride on the lake.

The letter explained that when they were about half way across the lake, Obenour, who was operating the boat, made a wide turn to return to the shore. The motor failed and the boat started to sink with the front end up.

AS A RESULT, the letter said, all four were thrown into the water. Taylor was saved by Foster who grabbed a camera strap hanging around Taylor's neck, holding him above water. Parris grabbed the boat and fired several pistol shots to attract attention.

Both Taylor and Foster reported they did not see Obenour after the accident, but Parris saw him go down. Parris told camp officials that he tried to save Obenour but wasn't a good swimmer and nearly lost his own life. A Sfc. Switay, who was fishing on the bank at the time, got a boat and rescued the three men, but reported he did not see Obenour.

Mr. and Mrs. Obenour also have received a letter from Alaska which explained that the search for Pfc. Obenour's body is continuing, although the first freeze has hit the area.

PFC. REX A. OBENOUR
Loses Life In Boat Accident

PFC. OBENOUR WAS born Feb. 11, 1933, in Marion, a son of Esther Miller Obenour and Edwin G. Obenour. He was graduated from Harding High School with the class of 1952 and enlisted in the Air Force Feb. 16, 1953. He received his basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., and also attended radio school there, leaving the states for Alaska in November, 1953. Prior to entering service, he was employed at the former Universal Cooler plant in Marion.

Surviving besides his parents are seven brothers and four sisters, Gerald L. of 591 Universal Ave., Keith A., at home, John, who was to be inducted into the service today, Don Edwin, stationed with the Army at Mannheim, Germany, Paul, Roger and Kenneth, at home, Mrs. Louis Stine of Veterans Housing, Mrs. June Betts of Veterans Housing, Mrs. Iris Lower and Cheryl Ann, at home.

Pfc. Obenour was a member of Greenwood EUB Church. Memorial services will be held there at a later date.

Reunions

OSBORN

The fifth annual reunion of the Elmer Osborn family was held recently at the Delaware fairgrounds with 58 attending. A basket dinner was served at noon with Ida Mae Rodgers offering prayer. Officers re-elected are: Donald Cook of Columbus, president; Ralph E. Osborn of Marengo, vice president; and Daisy Osborn of Ashley, secretary and treasurer. The next reunion will be held on the fourth Sunday in August at the same place.

HOFFMAN

The annual reunion of the William and Catherine Hoffman families was held Sunday at Kelly Park in Crestline with 27 in attendance. Following the dinner served at noon, Mrs. Harry Koplinger, presided for the business when it was voted to give $5! to the polio fund drive. Mrs. Frank Beam, secretary-treasurer, read the minutes and treasurer report of the 1953 reunion. Both Mrs. Keplinger and Mrs. Beam were re-elected to their offices for 1955. The next reunion will be held on the last Sunday in August at Hamilton Park.

Girls' Candy Stand Aids Dimes Drive

FOUR MARION GIRLS Tuesday turned over to Mayor Harold Robinson their earnings from a small candy stand. The money, $5.01, will be used to help in the emergency March of Dimes campaign. Janet Orr, 11, of 452 W. Columbia St. hands the money to Mayor Robinson as Cheryl Dutton, 12, of 441 W. Columbia St.; her sister, Mary Lois, 9, and Carol Ballenger, 12, of 465 W. Columbia St., look on. The girls set up an orange crate on their lawns and sold popcorn, cold pop, candy, balloons and prize boxes to passing motorists and pedestrians. Mayor Robinson praised the girls for their effort and promised to turn the money over to the polio campaign.

Republican Party Women Leaders Will Convene Here

Republican county chairwomen of the 8th congressional district will meet here Wednesday, Sept. 8, at Hotel Harding, Mrs. Martha C. Wheatcraft of Galion, 8th district GOP state committeewoman, announced that the work session will be held following a dinner at 6:30 p.m.

County chairwomen from the seven counties of the district have been invited. Mrs. Wheatcraft, who is also Republican chairwoman of Crawford County, will preside at the gathering.

One of the top Republican women leaders in Ohio, Mrs. Florence G. Morris of Toledo, vice-chairman of the GOP state committee, is to be a guest speaker.

Preparations will be made at the meeting for each county chairwoman to conduct work sessions with the precinct committeewomen of her district. One such county-wide meeting has already been scheduled in Morrow County for Sept. 4.

Those county chairwomen invited to the meeting included: Mrs. Wheatcraft; Mrs. Mary Ellen Cole of Findlay, Hancock County; Mrs. Gertrude Kelly of Kenton, Hardin County; Mrs. Mary Eloise Furnis of Marion, Marion County; Mrs. Alma Hartsock of Cardington, Morrow County; Mrs. David E. Einsel of Tiffin, Seneca County; and Mrs. Joseph Kenan of Upper Sandusky, Wyandot County.

This is the fourth of a series of women's GOP district meetings being held in the state. Others have been held in the 4th and 10th congressional districts, and on Thursday, Sept. 2, another is scheduled for the 15th district.

Indians Jubilant After Wynn Throttles Yankees 6-1

Lopez, Rosen Call Victory Most Important of Season

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The jubilant Cleveland Indians, to a man, were convinced today they had the American League pennant all wrapped up. But either due to caution, fear of popping off, or just plain superstition, none was willing to speak for the record.

Manager Al Lopez, jubilant but cautious, after Early Wynn's brilliant two-hitter that led to Cleveland's vital 6-1 victory over the New York Yankees, last night, came as close as he could without actually predicting the flag.

"This is the biggest game we've won all year," he said happily. "I'd say we're in the best position right now than we've been in all season.

"We might still get hurt, but we know we can't get killed. I'd say they've really got their backs against the wall now."

Cleveland's triumph boosted the Tribe's lead to 5 games over the crestfallen Yankees who had expected to use this "crucial" three-game series as a means to slice the Indians' margin to a game and a half. Following this series, the Indians and Yankees clash two more times in Cleveland.

Al Rosen said what was on the minds of many in the crowd of 58,859.

"Our victory really put the Yankees in an unenviable spot," he said. "To my knowledge, it is the first time that New York finds itself in a position where it can't do it itself. The Yankees, have always been able to win the big ones. This time they didn't. Now, for the first time in six years, they have got to depend upon somebody else.

"They've got to hope and pray that Chicago beats us. The White Sox have been tough for us all year."

Wynn, who had a no-hitter until Irv Noren walloped a home run with two out in the seventh to furnish the Yankees' only run, naturally, was the happiest person in the Cleveland clubhouse.

"It was the best game I ever pitched," he grinned. "It certainly was the biggest I ever won. This game meant more to me than any other I ever pitched."

The only two Yankee hits came off his fast ball. Noren smashed one deep into the right field stands. The other hit, a single, was made by pinch hitter Enos Slaughter with two out in the eighth.

Everything went right for the Indians. Lopez replaced first baseman Vic Wertz with Bill Glynn in the eighth and Glynn came up with two fine defensive plays. Al also subbed Dave Philley for Dave Pope in right field in the sixth and it was Philley's three-run homer that iced the game.

"I'm getting like Casey Stengel," Lopez laughed. "I use a quija board."

The loss was a tough one for Stengel.

"Those Clevelands are in a pretty good spot right now," he said. "But somebody ought to warn Lopez not to start claiming anything yet. Don't forget we've still four games left with them. Also, they've still got six with Chicago while we've only got to play them twice."

Stengel had some caustic comment to make regarding Bob Grim's home run pitch to Philley in the eighth inning on a 3-0 pitch, but his biggest gripe was the failure of the Yankees to do any hitting.

"Grim should have known better than to groove a 3-0 pitch," Stengel said. "I guess you can charge that to inexperience. I'll bet he won't do that again once he gets to know the league a little better.

Smitty's Beats Mac's To Win League Crown

Smitty's All-Stars blanked Mac's Trading Post, 4-0, for the Commercial League title last night at Garfield Park.

Twirling the three-hit shutout was Bud Thorpe. It marked Smitty's third Commercial League title in the four years it has been in the league.

A bases-loaded double by Joe Roseberry, an infield play and a wild pitch accounted for the four Smitty runs in the first. Dale Culver walked, Chuck Reid beat out a bunt and Fritz Walters was safe on a fielders choice to set the stage for Roseberry's two-run double. Walters came in on an infield play and Roseberry scored on a wild pitch.

Bud England, on the hill for Mac's, was touched for four hits.

Roseberry had a pair of hits for Smitty's while Reid and Lou Crowdis added one apiece.

Mays, 'Klu' Vie for Top Homer Spot

CINCINNATI (AP)—It will be Willie Mays against Ted Kluszewski tonight at Crosley Field.

And, as far as some fans are concerned, the fact that the New York Giants and the Cincinnau Redlegs will also be on the field is strictly a matter of second billing.

The Reds were squashed by the Philadelphia Phillies, 9-3, yesterday, but Kluszewski hit two home runs to put himself in the lead of the National League home run race. The roundtrippers, his 40th and 41st of the season, gave Ted two more than competitor Mays.

Ted has now smashed his own club record of 40 homers in one season set by him last year. And he hit 13 in August, breaking the one-month club record of 11 set by Gus Bell last year. Kluszewski has also hit safely in 13 straight games and needs only three more extra base hits to crack Babe Herman's mark of 73 which he set as a Redleg in 1932.

The fans are wondering if there is any stopping Big Ted. But they know the answer to the same question applied to the Reds. The question had been meekly raised after the Rhinelanders had won five straight going into yesterday's game. But the inevitable happened and now the Reds are three games under the elusive .500 mark.

The Phils exploded 17 hits, including homers by John Wyrostek and Earl Torgeson, to mutilate five pitchers and send Bud Podbielan down to his eighth defeat. Bud failed to last through the second inning and the final two reliefers, Moe Savransky and Fred Baczewski, were treated like batting practice tossers.

Herm Wehmeier, on the other hand, had a relatively easy time of it, scattering eight Red hits and notching his seventh victory, his second against his former teammates.

Sulky Driver Hurt in Spill at Ohio State Fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The man who worries about all the farms in Ohio will be honored at the 100th Ohio State Fair today.

Traditionally, the sixth day of the fair honors the state's agricultural director. That post now is held by A. L. Sorenson.

Cooler weather for the state may knock down today's attendance. Today's highs are forecast at 72-78. An estimated 36,000 attended the fair yesterday.

At least one accident marred yesterday's pleasure.

A 72-year-old sulky driver, Jess Brinkerhoff of Wooster, was injured during the second harness race. He suffered head injuries when thrown from his sulky and was taken to University Hospital where his condition was listed as fair.

Brinkerhoff was driving King Day, owned by C. P. Congwer of Ashland, Ohio.

Spectators said another horse appeared to catch its foot in Brinkerhoff's sulky.

CAREY MAN COMPETES

Mark Schlachter, of Carey, is among the nation's top smallbore rifle marksmen firing this week in the 69th renewal of the National Matches at Camp Perry. One thousand smallbore riflemen from the 48 states and U. S. Territorial possessions are competing in the 1954 National Matches, the largest field to challenge the champion in 14 years. The competitors will fire against defending champion John J. Crowley of Clintonville, Conn., for the national title.

CURE FOR CASTOFF . . . By Alan Mayer

WALLY WESTLAKE, VETERAN OUTFIELDER OF THE CLEVELAND INDIANS, WAS NO LONGER WANTED BY THE NATIONAL LEAGUE 2 YEARS AGO, BUT HE'S BEEN MIGHTY HELPFUL TO THE TRIBE.
FORMER NATIONAL LEAGUERS HAVE PLAYED AN IMPORTANT PART IN THE WINNING OF THOSE 5 STRAIGHT YANKEE PENNANTS, SO PERHAPS WALLY AND FORMER PIRATE TEAMMATE GEORGE STRICKLAND MAY YET HELP THE INDIANS TO ONE.

Gavilan Ill; Title Match Postponed

By MURRAY ROSE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A virus infection sent welterweight champion Kid Gavilan to bed and once again put off his apparently jinxed title fight with Johnny Saxton, this time until October.

The 28-year-old Cuban was stricken so suddenly yesterday that neither promoter Herman Taylor nor the copromoting International Boxing Club could come up with a substitute fight for tonight's weekly Wednesday coast-to-coast boxing telecast. It was the first time that a live TV fight of some sort could not be staged as scheduled.

And Taylor said it was the first time in his 45 years in boxing that he could remember that a title fight ever was called off by illness on the eve of the contest. It was a first for Gavilan too. He said he never had a fight postponed before in his eight years in the United States, a record he had been very proud of.

Taylor said he would start refunding about $30,000 starting Friday or Saturday. The veteran promoter said the twice-postponed scrap would be held sometime in October, probably in Convention Hall.

Gavilan promised Taylor that he would fight then. Frank Wiener, chairman of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, who was summoned from his home at 9 p.m. last night, said that the champion would be placed on the "unavailable list" until he went through with the fight.

Gavilan's manager, Angel Lopez, said the Kid had a lump on the left side of his face Tuesday morning but that he had insisted on going through eight rounds of exercise to bring his weight down.

Champs Lose Last Chance To Stop Tribe Without Help

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The New York Yankees have lost their last chance to stop the Cleveland pennant dash single-handed.

Unless somebody else is willing to help, the five-year New York monopoly in the American League is doomed to end this month.

Only four games remain between the record-bound Indians and the second-place Yankees and the Yankees trail by 5½ lengths.

The point of no return was reached last night. The Yankees got only two hits as Cleveland roared down the warpath to a 6-1 triumph.

The Indians, who are winning games at a faster clip than any team in modern American League history, actually taunted the world champions by loading the bases in the first inning and then not scoring, a maneuver that would have meant certain defeat in years past.

But Early Wynn never gave the Yanks a chance. Cleveland pushed over two runs in the fourth on singles by Vic Wertz and Dave Pope, a double by Al Rosen and a sacrifice fly. Four runs in the eighth, three of them on a homer by Dave Philley, wrapped it up. Irv Noren homered in the seventh. Enos Slaughter slashed a pinch single in the eighth. That ended the Yankee attack.

Wynn's victory was his 19th and his most impressive of the year.

In the National League, the New York Giants moved 3½ games in front of the Brooklyn Dodgers with a 5-3 triumph in St. Louis. Brooklyn managed only three hits off Gene Conley and bowed to the Milwaukee Braves 2-0.

In other major league action, the Chicago Cubs won a pair from Pittsburgh 14-2 and 7-3. Philadelphia clipped Cincinnati 9-3, breaking an eight game losing streak. Washington defeated Detroit 5-3, and the Philadelphia Athletics pushed Baltimore into the American League basement with a double-header sweep 8-6 and 6-3.

Hurricane weather forced the postponement of the Chicago White Sox game in Boston.

The Giants jumped away to a three-run lead in St. Louis, were caught, then won in the fifth. Al Dark singled, Henry Thompson walked and Dusty Rhodes drove in Dark with a single. Thompson scored from third on Willie Mays' sacrifice fly.

Mays drove in another run with a single and scored one after hitting a triple. Rhodes also drove in a second run.

Milwaukee reached Don Newcombe for two quick runs, one in the first scoring on Bobby Thomson's single and one in the second on Del Crandall's homer.

Hank Sauer of the Cubs broke the National League record and tied the major league record when he hit his 15th home run this season off Pittsburgh pitching. The blow, his 35th of the year, came in the second game. Howie Pollet and Walker Cooper drove in three runs apiece in the opener.

Ted Kluszewski took over the National League home run lead with a pair in Cincinnati's loss to Philadelphia. He has hit 41, one more than his previous personal high, set a year ago.

Washington pounded George Zuverink for 11 hits in dumping Detroit into a fourth-place tie with ram-idled Boston.

Eighth-inning rallies produced both Philadelphia victories over Baltimore. The A's scored five runs in the eighth inning of the first game and three in the eighth of the nightcap.

College Football Drills To Open Across Nation

First Saturday Contests Start In Two Weeks

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—College football came out of the mothballs today when most of the schools across the country started their fall workouts—just two weeks before the first full Saturday program

The coaches, including more than half a dozen new ones at major colleges, wasted little time with formalities and got down to the problem at hand right away—how to teach their charges to win games A few have only one week to prepare as there are a scattering of minor games a week from Saturday

Some have two weeks while the majority will swing into action Sept 25 On Sept 18 the first nationally televised game will be California-Oklahoma at Berkeley and that one could properly come at the windup of the season because it will test two titans

Of all the coaches who will be on the spot, young Terry Brennan at Notre Dame will have the most cause to worry He will be filling the shoes of the departed master Frank Leahy, whose success at South Bend was fabulous

The 26-year-old Brennan will have to rebuild more than half the 1953 team and his first opponent on Sept 25 is Texas, no pushover for anyone Two of his biggest problems are finding replacements for All America Johnny Lattner and Fullback Neil Worden

Other new faces at major schools include Hugh Daughtery at Michigan State Steve Sebo at Penn Paul Bryant at Texas A&M Frank Reagan at Villanova Vince Di Francesco at Iowa State and Murray Warmath at Minnesota

Daugherty, too, will have a big job He is stepping into the place vacated by Biggie Munn, who led the Spartans to the Big Ten championship in their first year in the league Then they won the Rose Bowl game He has lost 16 players but has 20 lettermen returning

Munn has been promoted to Spartan athletic director and promised he will have nothing to do with running the team

Sebo was Munn s backfield coach at Penn State Bryant came from the University of Kentucky Reagan was an assistant coach with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League Di Francesca coached at Western Illinois State last year Warmath is from Mississippi State

OSU To Begin Practice After Publicity Day

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP) — Ohio State s Buckeyes started regular fall practice today after a publicity field day yesterday when they posed for pictures and were interviewed at Ohio Stadium

The Big Ten sets Sept 1 as official day to begin fall practice

Team physician Dr Walter E Duffee, reported all players passed a rigid examination Two players with old injuries include tackle Don Swartz of Newark knee injury and halfback Lee Williams of Springfield, who broke an arm in a game last spring

Almost every one had his hands on the ball yesterday as Coach Woody Hayes observed

"Most of these fellows won't get to feel a football the rest of the year They must wonder sometimes why it s called 'football game' Even an assistant manager gets to put air in the ball once in a while"

The Buckeyes open against Indiana here Sept 25

Scrimmage Against Upper

Howison Reports Prexies Need Work in Backfield

Admitting "We still have a lot of work to do" Coach Pete Howison today was sending his Harding gridders through one of their few remaining two-a-day drills following a two-hour scrimmage with Upper Sandusky Tuesday

The tackling was good and the running pretty good, Howison said, but he added that more work remained following the scrimmage yesterday. "We ll have to work on backfield patterns a lot," the Prexy mentor said

Using a backfield composed of Joe Snouffer at quarterback Gary Ballinger at fullback and Chet King and Joe Albinack at the halves Harding moved for five touchdowns in yesterday's scrimmage against the smaller Upper Sandusky squad

Harding stayed to the ground practically throughout the entire game although Snouffer hit Fred Hazen for one score and Don Schweinfurth passed to Gene Armstrong for another Ballinger scored twice on runs and Snouffer sneaked across for the other Harding's defense held the Rams scoreless until late in the scrimmage.

The Prexies will face Kenton Friday at 4 p.m. here in their final scrimmage of the year, Howison said Then Harding will have one week of one-a-day drills remaining before the preview with Lorain here Saturday, Sept 11

Defensively, Coach Howison started Ted Firstenberger and Frank D'Eramo at ends, Bob Prater and Jim Peacock at tackles and Hank Rinnert and Larry Harper at guards, Abner Thomas, Ballinger and Gary Huber at linebackers and Snouffer and King at the safety spots

On offense, it was Firstenberger and Fred Hazen at ends, D'Eramo and Harper at tackles, Thomas and Rinnert at guards and Bob Caldwell at center

Indians

"I thought we'd get to Wynn after Noren's homer We usually do that against him in the late innings But he was great out there It's the best game he ever pitched against us

"I still think we'll catch 'em but we've got to get more hitting The season will be over for us if we don't hit better"

Score Named Top Freshman In Association

LOUISVILLE, Ky (AP)—Herbert Jude Score, the Indianapolis Indians' 21-year-old southpaw hurler and new holder of the American Association strikeout record, was named today for the 1954 Robert E Hooey Memorial Award as the league's outstanding freshman player

Selection of the 6-foot-2, 160-pound rookie was made by sports writers in the Association's eight member cities It was the first time a pitcher was named in the nine-year history of the award which heretofore has gone to seven infielders an done outfielder.

Louisville Downs Charleston, Keeps Hopes for Pennant

By The Associated Press

The Louisville Colonels continued a valiant, though belated, season-ending drive in the American Association last night, beating Charleston, 1-0, in a finely pitched ball game

The win enabled the Colonels to maintain at least a mathematical chance to take the pennant from the Indianapolis Indians, who also triumphed, beating St Paul, 8-4

Indianapolis now has an 11½-game edge on the runnerup Colonels

Toledo beat Columbus, 6-5, in 10 innings The Sox trailed 5-1 after five innings but narrowed the gap on Jack Daniels' home run in the sixth and shaped a game-tying three-run rally in the eighth

Minneapolis and Kansas City split a doubleheader, the Millers smashing out 17 hits in the seven-inning opener for a 14-8 triumph and the Blues coming back for a 7-6 decision in the nightcap

Mack Presents New Plan for Retaining Club

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Roy Mack today took a new plan to wealthy Philadelphians in his latest—and what could be a successful—effort to keep the Philadelphia American League baseball franchise in Philadelphia and in his control

The short, balding son of the builder of the onetime Athletics diamond empire got the "new look" financial setup at a meeting of the Board of Directors Monday

Presentation of the new plan to Roy by a member of the board came after the board members learned that Arnold Johnson, the Chicago real estate man who has offered to buy the A's franchise and transfer it to Kansas City, has cut his price from a reported $4 250 000 to about $3,100 000

The newest plan to keep the Athletics in Philadelphia differs from the other most publicized plan which was offered by a syndicate headed by Harry M Sylk, drugstore magnate and financier Albert M Greenfield, although basically the money figures are the same

Sylk and Greenfield have offered a total price of 2½ million dollars with the condition that they take over complete control of the club

But Roy wants to keep his spot with the Athletics and, according to a source closely identified with the club, has been pushing off a showdown on the sale of the club until all his avenues are exhausted

The new plan would work this way A sum of 2½ million would be raised Connie s and Earle's shares of stock would be purchased for a total of about $1,200,000 A major portion of the mortgage now owed to an insurance company would be paid off, leaving what the source estimated at half a million dollars in the bank to rejuvenate the second-division club

POLIO FATAL TO GIRL, 7

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Seven-year-old Norma Lanham died in City Hospital yesterday, Massillon's first fatality from polio

Tester Chats STARS

PITCHING—Early Wynn, Cleveland Indians, hurled a brilliant two-hitter as the Indians trounced the New York Yankees 6-1 dropping the Yanks five and one-half games back of Cleveland in the American League

BATTING — Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati Redlegs, hit his 40th and 41st homers and took the major league home run leadership from New York's Willie Mays as the Redlegs lost 9-3 to the Philadelphia Phillies.

MILK PRICE UP

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP)—The price of milk rose one cent a quart here today The increase, bringing the price to 21 cents, is the second in the last month

Firm in Marion Biggest Maker of Liquid Fertilizer

Na-Churs Plant Life Co. Guarantees Product Will Hike Yield

This is one in a series of articles on Marion industrial firms which will appear from time to time in The Star.

By FRED THOMAS

An extensive crop service program and the only guaranteed fertilizer in the world are two features which have led to the growth of Na-Churs Plant Food Co. of Marion.

Started in 1945 as a maker of liquid fertilizer for the home gardener, Na-Churs now is the largest manufacturer of liquid fertilizer for farm use in the U. S. and the company's switch to farming came about through an accident.

"One of our salesmen was driving through southern Ohio and had time to kill one day so he stopped to watch a farmer plant tobacco," Na-Churs advertising manager John House said. "He asked the farmer to try some Na-Churs on the tobacco. The results were amazing and we've been in the farm fertilizer business ever since."

NA-CHURS GUARANTEES a profit to the farmer or he will receive his money back. The company says if the yield increase from using Na-Churs does not pay for the fertilizer and leave a profit, the treatment costs nothing.

Check strips are left in each field to determine whether the use of Na-Churs is profitable. House says many farmers are sorry they wasted land on check strips because their increases have been so impressive.

All states east of the Rocky Mountains have Na-Churs crop service men and 128 are located in Ohio. Crop service men analyze soil at the farmers' request and send samples to the Na-Churs lab where Victor A. Tiedjens makes recommendations.

House said many times recommendations are made for treatment other than Na-Churs but the service is free to the farmer.

Tiedjens, director of research and chief chemist for Na-Churs, is one of the nation's leading horticulturists. Author of several books on vegetables, Tiedjens was cited last year as the outstanding man in his field by the Massachusetts Horticulture Society.

A graduate of Rutgers University, Tiedjens and L. G. Schermerhorn carried on many early experiments in liquid fertilizers when they were at the New Jersey Experiment Station in the early 1930's. Tiedjens came to the company in late 1951.

NA-CHURS OFFICIALS say the rapid rise in use of liquid fertilizers is due to the fact that plants take in food only in liquid form. They explain dry fertilizer stays on the ground until it is absorbed into the soil. Liquid fertilizers, however, can go right to work on plant leaves.

One of Na-Churs latest methods for applying fertilizer is through airplane spraying. The first liquid fertilizer was sprayed in Marion County about three years ago. Today there are 32 dusting planes working for Na-Churs throughout Ohio and there have been as many as 11 in Marion County on one day.

Na-Churs executives emphasize that their product is only a supplemental fertilizer and won't replace dry fertilizer, as yet. It is put on at critical stages of plant growth when dry fertilizers appear to be lagging.

SOMEDAY the company hopes it's products may do the whole job. Tests by Michigan State College horticulturists show liquid fertilizer starts working in an hour and is the most efficient fertilizer yet conceived. It's effectiveness has been shown on all types of crops, including wheat, corn, tobacco, potatoes, oats and soybeans.

The company decided to offer its guarantee to clarify ideas about liquid fertilizers. Varied opinions had been written about them, creating much confusion.

Na-Churs lists five main advantages in using liquid fertilizers:

1. Ease of application—farmers can apply liquid fertilizer while they spray for other purposes. The liquid can be added to soluble weed-killing and insecticide solutions.

2. Efficiency — liquid fertilizer contains nutrients in complete solution, not suspension. Since it is applied directly to the plants, none is wasted by being washed away.

3. Variety of uses—farmers are using liquid fertilizer for foliage feeding, as a starter solution for seed beds, in transplanting, for seed treatment and as a side dressing.

4. Existence of application equipment—many farmers already have equipment for spraying and need purchase only the fertilizer.

5. Ease of testing results—since it is added directly to the plant, variations in soil conditions and other factors can't influence testing.

FARMERS in the Marion area have been enthusiastic over increases after using Na-Churs. Ed Laird of near Marion reported a near-record yield of 176 bushels of corn per acre, using only Na-Churs. His untreated check plot produced 67 bushels per acre.

Laird noted the stalks didn't seem to be increased in size but most harvested ears weighed over one pound each and were from 12 to 15 inches long. Cost of the liquid applications was about $30 an acre.

Located at 421 Monroe St., Na-Churs has a branch in Canada. Executives of the Na-Churs company also run the Berlou Manufacturing Co., makers of mothproofing. The Berlou Co. is housed in the same building.

EXTENSIVE WORK in the laboratory has paid off for Na-Churs Plant Food Co. Examples of Na-Churs help to crops is shown above:

LEFT: Dr. Victor A. Tiedjens, director of research, displays the result of a Na-Churs treatment to soybeans. The smaller plant received no Na-Churs treatment.

RIGHT: Ed Laird of near Marion shows a sample of corn from the 176-bushels-per-acre crop on his farm. Laird's untreated plot gave only 67 bushels per acre. His near-record yield came after treatment with Na-Churs only.

Swine Day Set At Ohio Station

Findings in Breeding Pigs To Be Revealed

WOOSTER — Latest research findings in breeding and raising pigs will be revealed at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station's annual Swine Day, Sept. 10.

Heading the speaking program will be Carl F. Neumann of the National Livestock and Meat Board at Chicago. He will speak on the promotion and merchandising of pork and pork products.

Visitors will see exhibits of swine raising and feeding equipment, watch demonstrations on breeding and marketing ideas, and hear talks on different methods of dry lot feeding. W. L. Robison, the Station's swine research specialist, has arranged a panel discussion by practicing veterinarians on ways to maintain hog health.

The Station's swine research specialist, has arranged a panel discussion by practicing veterinarians on ways to maintain hog health.

The Station's swine rersearch center is located east of Wooster two miles south of U. S. Route 30. Swine Day is sponsored jointly by the Ohio Swine Breeders' and Feeders' Association, the Experiment Station, and the College of Agriculture at Ohio State University.

Plowed-Down Fertilizer Will Add to Profits

Digestion of Organic Matter Speeded Up Without Robbing Soil

CHICAGO — Fertilizer plowed down this fall with corn stalks, straw and other crop residues can be a money maker for next year, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

The fertilizer will feed the soil micro-organisms to speed up the digestion of organic matter in the soil without robbing the soil of nutrients needed by the growing crop in the spring. This will help build better soil structure and make more certain the proper feeding of the crops, the committee says.

As soon as corn stalks and other crop residues are plowed under, says the committee, the population of soil micro-organisms doubles and triples to attack this organic matter.

Unless there are ample amounts of nutrients in the soil to build the bodies of these micro-organisms, their growth will be limited. As a result, the digestion of the organic matter will be slowed down and the organisms will compete with growing crops for the nitrogen, phosphate and other nutrients they need in common.

"As these soil organisms digest the organic matter," says the committee, "they produce sticky substances that help glue soil particles together into clusters or aggregates that make the soil grainy and porous. Thus water can soak in faster and more of it will be held for crop production."

A by-product of good soil structure is the saving in power needed to till the land, says the committee. When the soil is open and grainy, less power is required to pull the plow and other tillage implements.

The committee points out that top-dressing cover crops sown in corn or green manure crops sown in small grains will increase the fall growth of these crops. Two benefits will result: The soil will be better protected over the winter and more organic matter will be added to the soil when these crops are plowed under.

"If these cover crops are grasses," says the committee, "then additional fertilizer may be needed when they are plowed down in the spring so that the soil organism will not compete for nutrients with the growing crops."

Ohio Farm Econogram

Report on Prices and Economic Trends

Prepared by Agricultural Extension Service

New wool support program provides for different method of supports. Instead of supports through government purchases, price will seek its own level on the open market. Producers will be paid the difference between market price and support price. Revenues for payments will come from tariff receipts on wool imports. U. S. produces about 1-3 of the wool it consumes. Support rate can be increased to but not exceed 110 per cent parity.

Agricultural balance sheet 1954. Farm assets have dropped six per cent in value since 1952 due to lower prices of land and livestock. As result of falling assets and rising debts, farmers' equities dropped five per cent in 1953.

—:—

Farm mortgage debt continued to increase for 8th year during 1953 but at a slower rate. It was $17.1 billion on Jan. 1, 1954 from $16.0 billion a year earlier. Farm real estate debt was $7.7 billion. Rate of repayment slower and lower, and some refinancing of short-term to long-term debts.

—:—

Farm exports for year ended July 1 were four per cent above previous year in value. Large gain in cotton last half of year. Also large shipments of peanuts, cottonseed oil, linseed oil, and flaxseed.

—:—

Soybeans: Exports have become an increasingly important outlet to soybeans. Advance sales for 1954 crop of beans for exports have been heavy. USDA forecasts that according to Aug. 1 conditions, prices for the 1954 crop should exceed national average support price of $2 22 per bushel farm basis.

—:—

Milk production for remainder of 1954 forecast to be little different from same months in 1953. Total production for year indicated to be around 125 billion pounds compared with 121 billion last year.

—:—

July creamery butter production dropped below the output of the corresponding month a year earlier for first time since September 1952 — six per cent below July 1953, one per cent below July average. Seasonal decline from June, eight per cent was sharpest downturn since 1936. August production is running nine to ten per cent below last year and average. Storage stocks nearly 2-3 above a year ago.

—:—

Fed cattle price Prospects are for prices this fall to remain at near present levels. Grass cattle price declines expected to be moderate.

—:—

More turkeys: Record crop of 61 million turkeys. Small varieties, 16 per cent above last year; large varieties nine per cent greater. Ohio raising 2.3 million birds, 15 per cent above 1953. Earlier marketings continue as growers expect to market 45 per cent or more in October or earlier.

—:—

Ladino - clover seed production smallest in 6 years, 47 per cent less than in 1953, 11 per cent below 10 year average. Large dealer and government stocks adequate for domestic use. Acreage harvested about half as much as in 1953.

Morrow Youth To Represent Ohio at Meeting

COLUMBUS — Tom Wagner of Mount Gilead will represent Ohio Young Men's and Women's Clubs and 4-H Junior Leadership Clubs at the ninth National Conference on Citizenship Sept. 15-17 in Washington, D. C. He will be one of 1,200 men, women, boys and girls representing public and private organizations and agencies.

H. W. Harshfield, state 4-H Club leader, said the conference is sponsored by the Department of Justice and the National Education Association. It started as a conference on citizenship training in schools and has expanded to include out-of-school citizenship training.

This year's conference theme will be, "The Three Branches of Federal Government - Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow." President Eisenhower has proclaimed September 17 Citizenship Day to commemorate the signing of the Constitution, September 17, 1787.

Wagner graduated from Ohio State University's College of Agriculture in 1951, spent two years in the army, and is now enrolled in the Ohio State University graduate school. He is specializing in rural sociology.

As an undergraduate he was Master of University Grange, member of All-Agricultural Council at OSU, and active in University Farm Bureau and 4-H. He assisted with the International Farm Youth Exchange program this year.

Specialist Advises Against Aspirin as Food Preservative

Continued use of salicylic acid and aspirin as food preservatives may cause digestive disturbances and endanger the health of people who use them according to Miss Mary Morgan, Ohio State University nutrition specialist. She advises homemakers to rely on heat to sterilize canned products.

Dr. Earl Guth, Ohio State University pharmacy professor, says straight salicylic acid is used in some Ohio counties as a home food preservation. For the effects of continuous use of it, he cites a statement from Legal Medicine and Toxicology by Peterson, Webster and Haines.

The statement reads, "Long continued use of salicylic acid and its salts is said to have led to a form of chronic poisoning in which the chief symptions were loss of appetite, diarrhea alternating with constipation, irritation of kidneys, skin eruptions and mental depression. Such results are said to have followed use of articles of diet preserved by salicylic acid."

Limestone Buying Suggestion Given By OSU Specialist

The amount of soil acidity a ton of liming material will correct is the best measure of value in buying limestone.

Ground limestone varies in composition, explains Earl Jones, Extension specialist in crops at Ohio State University. Some limestones are higher in calcium than others. Limestones high in magnesium are called dolomitic limestones.

Either of these limestones when finely ground will correct soil acidity, if applied in the amounts indicated by a test of soil, he said. Ground limestone packaged in bags should have the neutralizing (acidity correcting) power marked on the bag.

When limestone is purchased in bulk, the seller is required to furnish the buyer with a statement of the neutralizing power. Ususally this information is on the invoice or bill delivered with the shipment.

Boom in Color TV Next Year Seen by Sarnoff

CHICAGO (AP)—Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff says he expects a "snowballing growth" of color television to commence early next year.

The board chairman of the Radio Corporation of America and the National Broadcasting Co., asserted "that will be the beginning of the same sort of continuing spiral which black-and-white television experienced over the past five years."

Sarnoff, in a prepared speech for a luncheon meeting of NBC television affiliates, said he based his prediction of a rapid advance in color television on these developments:

1. NBC has "already sold 14 million dollars worth of color programming and is in complete operating readiness to enlarge its color schedule and to meet advertiser interest in color as it develops."

2. RCA, on Sept. 15, will demonstrate its new 21-inch tri-color tube, together with a new color receiver, which Sarnoff said embodies major simplications in circuitry. He said the circuit changes will lead to substantial reductions in the cost of color sets and will "provide the basis for volume production."

Tent Crusade Continues

Sermon themes for the remainder of the Gospel Tent Crusade at Garfield Park, continuing through Labor Day, have been announced by Rev. Mark L. Mitchell of Canton, the evangelist. Good attendance and increasing interest in the meetings were reported by Rev. Earl L. Holliday, pastor of the Maranatha Bible Church sponsoring the special tent services.

Included among the messages will be "Christ, the Sparrow," "What Can We Do for the Dead?" "Chained in a Graveyard," "Christ and the Believer in Genesis I," and "Possessing Your Possessions." At a service Sunday afternoon Rev. Mitchell will give a "Panoramic View of the Book of Revelation." Rev. George Zinn of Chicago, Ill., is the soloist for the crusade.

The cattle egret, a member of the heron family native to Spain, Africa and the warmer regions of Asia, has recently migrated to the United States.

ACROSS THE COUNTER

Not so long ago Shorty Brown, who had his insurance with a non-standard company, lent his car to a visiting relative. The car rolled over in loose gravel on a curve. The repair bill totaled $600. The company paid the claim. However, shortly afterward, it threatened law suit against the relative for the $600. The policy gave them permission to recover for damages paid when anyone other than the car owner was driving. The relative settled out of court at a compromise figure of $400.

Earl J. Andrews

This incident illustrates the so-called "whizzer" clauses which may be in your auto policy. Some contain "temperance" restrictions and other limiting provisions.

You are bound by these provisions even if you don't know they are in your policy. A recent court decision puts it bluntly. "An Insured is bound by anything the insurance company puts in the policy. He fails to read the entire policy at his peril."

The safe course is to place your insurance with an agency that writes a "National Standard" auto policy, without these limiting provisions. Then you know you have the broadest auto insurance protection available.

Our agency represents only the best companies with the broadest coverage. Why not discuss auto insurance with us tomorrow.

Objective View Of News Urged In Talk to Club

Chet Long, Television Broadcaster, Advises Careful Check of Facts

Today's troubled times make it imperative for everyone to keep "calm, cool and collected," Chet Long, newscaster for WBNS - TV and WBNS-Radio in Columbus, told the Marion Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday noon at Hotel Harding.

The news media should make every effort to present the facts as fairly and accurately as possible, he said, and the general public itself should check into all phases of every report before forming opinions.

Too Much Editorializing

Long said there is too much editorializing on television and radio under the guise of news reporting.

"Editorializing on the air has a definite place," he said, "but it should be clearly labeled as such and not presented in such a way that it appears to be objective reporting."

He pointed out that, because of time limitations, television and radio can only report the highlights of the news and the public must read its newspapers carefully to obtain a complete picture of the news. There is a very real need today for every citizen to keep as well informed as possible, he said.

The speaker discussed some of the problems of presenting a television show, and enumerated the various factors that have made television a much more complicated media than radio.

Show Needs 16 People

He pointed out that a radio newscast involved three people directly —the newscaster, an announcer and an engineer—and that it requires 16 people to produce his 15-minute television show.

Douglas Edwards, CBS newscaster, has a staff of 28 and Edward R. Murrow has 35, Long said.

Visiting Rotarians at the meeting were R. B. Tripp of Cleveland, and Frank B. Smiley of Lakewood. Guests included Harold Willson of Boston, Mass., Paul Kline of Cleveland, and John Baxter, Smith H. Witter, Donald Stull, Bob Byrd and Jimmy Miller Jr., all of Marion.

Officer Retires, 3 Generations of Navy Service Ends

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Three generations—and 91 years—of naval service by a famous family come to an end today.

Comdr. Joseph K. Taussig Jr., Pearl Habor hero and 1941 Naval Academy graduate, is being retired because of physical disability. He lost his left leg as a result of wounds at Pearl Harbor.

His grandfather was Rear Adm. Edward D. Taussig who entered the academy in 1863, fought in the Spanish-American War, and claimed Wake Island for the United States.

Taussig Jr.'s father commanded a destroyer division when the U.S. entered World War I.

Bucyrus Students Start 1954-55 Term

BUCYRUS — It was back to school today for approximately 2,100 Bucyrus boys and girls.

The year's opening date, the earliest in many years, was fixed by the school board to permit additional holidays during the regular school year. In previous years, opening day of school was on the Tuesday following Labor day.

School Supt. I. J. Miller is expecting an opening day enrollment of more than 2,100 compared with last year's 2,000. Opening day enrollment in the first six grades and kindergarten is expected to total 1,293 while an additional 828 will be in the upper six grades.

Because of the unusually large second grade enrollment, a second section will be operated at Central School.

colors available for immediate delivery

The closer you compare values the more certainly you'll see that Pontiac is far and away the standout buy on automobile row.

In size and weight alone Pontiac offers you more car per dollar than a like amount ever bought before. And that's important, because that long wheelbase is the reason for comfort, riding ease and roadability unapproached within hundreds of dollars of its modest price. On the road a Pontiac is always restfully smooth, steady and quiet. Your hands on the wheel are free of jarring road shocks. You round corners on an even keel . . . cruise without tiring for hours on end.

And along with these big-car features you get remarkable savings. Economy is, of course, exceptional. First cost is the least for any big, luxury automobile—within a few dollars of the lowest-priced cars. Our trade-in appraisals are notably large and Pontiac's resale value ranks with the highest in the industry. Come in for the facts about today's most startling value.

Mrs. Victor Seixas
WHY DO YOU PREFER BLUE BONNET?

Mrs. Seixas travels widely accompanying her husband, the tennis star, to national and international tournaments.

"I serve BLUE BONNET Margarine at our home table because nowhere do I find a spread with such uniformly sunny-sweet flavor, spreading smoothness and high food value. Unlike most other margarines, BLUE BONNET contains both vitamins A and D. It is truly first, in my opinion, for Flavor, Nutrition, Economy!"

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied today after its severe setback of yesterday.

Gains went to between 1 and 2 points in many instances and a few pushed higher than that. Losses were small and scattered.

The pace of trading quickened when prices rose and then slackened when the rise leveled off. The rate was less than two million shares for the day. That compares with 2,640,000 shares changing hands in yesterday's depressed market.

Major divisions that were under fire yesterday by sellers were favored today by buyers who evidently felt that the shares had reached an over-sold position.

Doing well were the aircrafts, steels, motors, and railroads on good activity. Also higher were the oils, coppers, chemicals, radio-televisions, rubbers, and the utilities.

Among higher stocks were General Dynamics, Lockheed, Boeing, Montgomery Ward, Chrysler, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, American Telephone, Western Union, Southern Railway, Santa Fe, and Du Pont.

RESOLUTION NO. 1883
RESOLUTION DECLARING IT NECESSARY TO IMPROVE UHLER AVENUE BY CONSTRUCTING A CONCRETE CURB, GUTTER AND SIDEWALK AND MACADAM PAVEMENT ON BOTH SIDES OF SAID UHLER AVENUE FROM A POINT 400 FEET SOUTH OF INDIANA AVENUE TO A POINT 100 FEET SOUTH OF OHIO AVENUE.
NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Council of the City of Marion, State of Ohio:
Section 1. That it is necessary to improve Uhler Avenue by constructing a concrete curb, gutter and sidewalk and macadam pavement on both sides of said Uhler Avenue from a point 400 feet south of Indiana Avenue to a point 100 feet south of Ohio Avenue.
Section 2. That the grade of the aforementioned curb, gutter, sidewalk and pavement shall be as shown by the Engineer's plans and profiles which are made a part hereof.
Section 3. That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvements heretofore prepared by the Engineer and now on file in the office of the Safety-Service Director be and the same are hereby approved.
Section 4. That the whole cost of said improvements less one fiftieth thereof and the cost of intersections shall be assessed by the foot front upon the following described lands, to-wit: All lands and lots bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvements, which said lands and lots are hereby determined to be specifically benefitted by said improvement, and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of the preliminary and other surveys, and of the printing and publishing of the notices, resolutions and ordinances required and the service of said notices, the cost of construction, together with interest on notes and bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments and all other necessary expenditures.
Section 5. That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in ten semi-annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as shall be borne by the bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection thereof; provided, that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option pay such assessments in cash within thirty days after the passage of the assessing ordinance.
Section 6. That bonds of the City of Marion shall be issued in anticipation of the assessments by installments and in an amount equal to the cost assessed by the foot front referred to in Section 4 hereof; and notes of said City shall be issued in anticipation of the issue of such bonds.
Section 7. That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvements not specially assessed, including the costs of intersections, together with the cost of any real estate or interest herein purchased or appropriated and the costs and expenses of any appropriation proceeding therefore, and the damage awarded any owner of adjoining lands and interest thereon, and the costs and expenses of any such award, shall be paid by the issuance of bonds in the manner provided by law.
Section 8. That this resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

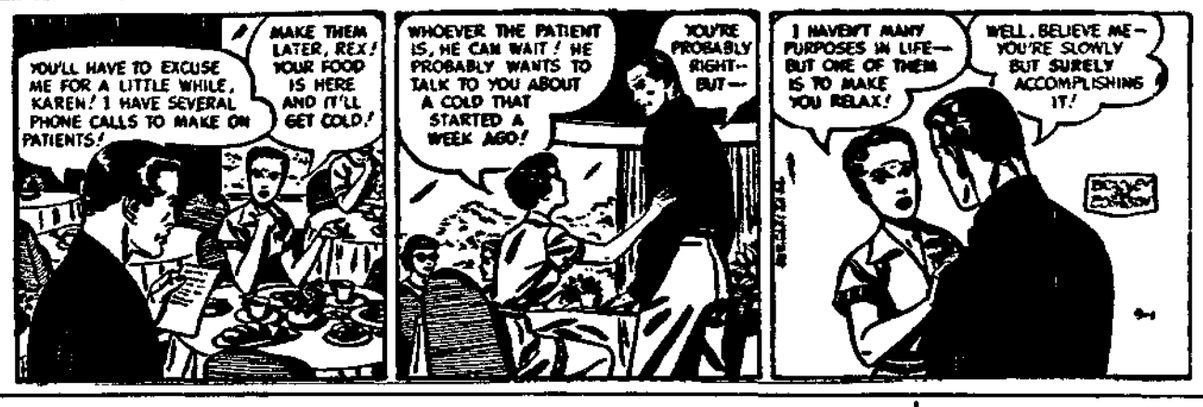
REX MORGAN, M.D. By Dal Curtis



YOU'LL HAVE TO EXCUSE ME FOR A LITTLE WHILE, KAREN! I HAVE SEVERAL PHONE CALLS TO MAKE ON PATIENTS!
MAKE THEM LATER, REX! YOUR FOOD IS HERE AND IT'LL GET COLD!
WHOEVER THE PATIENT IS, HE CAN WAIT! HE PROBABLY WANTS TO TALK TO YOU ABOUT A COLD THAT STARTED A WEEK AGO!
YOU'RE PROBABLY RIGHT— BUT—I HAVEN'T MANY PURPOSES IN LIFE— BUT ONE OF THEM IS TO MAKE YOU RELAX!
WELL, BELIEVE ME— YOU'RE SLOWLY BUT SURELY ACCOMPLISHING IT!

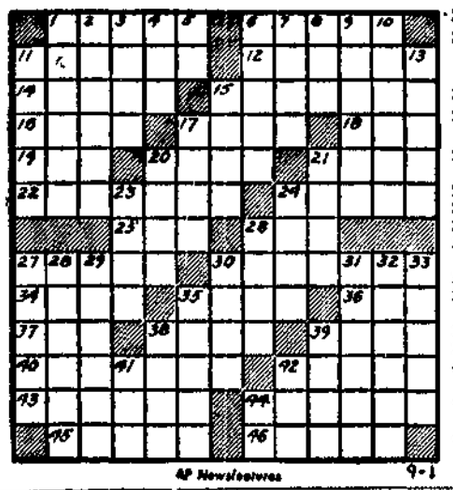
Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle



College Classes Shifted North to Air Force Men

WASHINGTON (UP)—An experimental educational program involving Air Force personnel in Labrador has daemonstrited conclusively that service life even in the isolated posts of the far north, does not necessarily lessen the desire for knowledge

Two college-level courses of study, offered to the Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron at the frigid Labrador unit of the Northeast Air Command, brought a totally unexpected response The project was initiated to determine the practicability of introducing the curriculum into other out-of-the-way bases in the north

Frederick S DeMatt flown in to conduct the classes, was greeted by a surprisingly large student body of 55 airmen This was a ratio of one out of every two men in the squadron

Enrollment in the courses 'History of American Civilization" and "Major Foreign Governments" was purely voluntary Three semester credit hours are given for each course which may be used toward a bachelor's degree and can be transferred to any accredited college or university.

Morrow Man Has Champion Guernsey Cow

Robert Crunkilton Among Area Winners At Ohio State Fair

Robert Crunkilton of near Bellville in Morrow County was among the area winners at the Ohio State Fair Monday and Tuesday. He received a Borden's Moores and Ross and Hamilton trophy for showing the champion Guernsey cow at the dairy cattle showing Monday.

First place in the Dorset yearling ewe contest for FFA boys was taken by Frank Thompson of West Mansfield, with second place in that class going to Dale Smith of Mount Gilead and third to Frank Thompson of West Mansfield.

County Youth Second

In the FFA Corriedale ram yearling FFA competition, Howard C. Aligire of Lexington was first, while Kenneth Murphy of near Marion took second and third places. Dennis Kin of Upper Sandusky was fourth.

Kin also placed third in the Corriedale ewe yearling showing.

James Rengert of near Mount Gilead was second in the senior yearling heifer showing at the FFA Hereford contest.

Glen Thiel of near Upper Sandusky received three A grades and one B grade in the 4-H and FFA beef cattle Angus contest. Two of his A grades were in the junior yearling heifer class where he placed second and third.

The other two top grades were in the summer yearling heifer class where he was placed first and second.

Score With Bull

Paul Dirkson of Kenton won the junior championship in the Brown Swiss bull competition in the junior open fair.

In the 4-H cattle competition, Daniel Jordan of Mount Gilead exhibited the grand champion 4-H Guernsey and took the purple ribbon for the second straight year.

In 4-H general livestock judging contests, Larry Sims of the Marion County team of Jay Rogers, Lowell Murphy, and Sims, placed eighth in the individual standings. He had a score of 452 out of a possible 600 points.

The dairy judging team of Dick Lawrence, Stan Lawrence, and Tom Issler of Marion County placed 10th with a score of 940 out of a possible 1,200 points.

Howard Seckel of Claridon, Marion County's representative in the state tractor operator's contest, finished 16th out of 43 entrants.

John Bish of Green Camp missed winning the egg grading contest by a narrow margin as he scored 173½ out of a possible 200 points. He misjudged one egg and wound up sixth instead of first. The contest was held at Ohio State University.

More judging is on tap at the fair today as it nears its closing date. This evening there will be a horse show at the Coliseum, a youth show at the Junior Fair Center, and a novelty review at the Grandstand.

Roy Cohn Lone Casualty In Army-McCarthy Row

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unless the Justice Department finds someone violated the law, the only casualty of the Army-McCarthy hearings may have been Roy M. Cohn. After the hearings he quit as chief counsel of Sen. McCarthy's Investigations subcommittee.

Last night the four Republicans and three Democrats on the subcommittee which conducted the hearings—on the fight between McCarthy and his staff on one side and Army officials on the other—made public their findings. They handed out various criticisms, most strongly against Cohn, but recommended action against no one.

Except for Cohn, all the principals in the case are still in their jobs and show every intention of keeping them, although one or more of them may have suffered some damage in public opinion of their integrity or ability.

THUS IT MIGHT SEEM the sensational dispute which began explosively early this year and consumed so much time and money has dwindled off into a quiet end. That may not be true. The results of this case, if there are any, may show up later.

The Justice Department may find that someone violated the law by perjuring himself or that there was a law violation in the summary of a secret FBI report which McCarthy produced at the hearings with the explanation an Army officer supplied him with it.

It was in connection with the introduction of this document that McCarthy called on federal employes to provide him information on graft, corruption and communism even if the executive department had stamped the material secret. The overtones of that request may linger on.

—:—

WHILE THE FOUR subcommittee Republicans in their majority report tapped McCarthy lightly on the wrist, the three Democrats took a sterner view.

Those three—McClellan of Arkansas, Symington of Missouri and Jackson of Washington—said "inexcusable actions" of McCarthy and Cohn "merit severe criticism."

Just a few hours before the McCarthy-Army report appeared, McCarthy was the main figure in a brand new hearing which began yesterday morning: this was an examination by a special committee into charges by some of McCarthy's fellow senators that he should be censured for his conduct over several years.

The three Democrats on the McCarthy-Army group pointed to McCarthy's request during the hearings to government employes to feed him secret information. The three Democrats said he merits "serious criticism" for that.

But that is one of the points the censure committee will consider in its hearings. The committee included this in the five categories of charges made against McCarthy as grounds for censure.

The four Republicans were much milder in their criticism of McCarthy than they were of the two main Army figures in the dispute with the Republican: Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams. The three Democrats blasted them too.

A total of 841 recipients shared in a distribution of $47,859 in aid for the aged payments in Marion County during the month of August. A report prepared by the Ohio Department of Public Welfare shows that the average payment amounted to $56.

Throughout the state 104,305 recipeints received $5,854,432, with average payments of $56.

Payments to surrounding counties were as follows: Crawford, $27,292; Delaware, $33,265; Hardin, $41,294; Morrow, $19,981; Union, $33,206; and Wyandot, $17,280.

BARBARA NAGER, 19, "Miss Philadelphia" who went on to become "Miss Pennsylvania," is shown with an oil painting, an example of her artistic ability. She will represent the Keystone State in the "Miss America" pageant in Atlantic City, N.J.

Seaplane Beats Speed of Sound

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A seaplane for the first time has exceeded the speed of sound, it was disclosed here yesterday.

Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp. said the revolutionary speed was accomplished here Aug. 3 by a delta-wing jet fighter built for the Navy. Test pilot C. E. Richbourg was at the controls.

The plane is called Sea Dart and designated YF2Y1. Its speed was not disclosed.

Kenton Times Owners Buy Plant in Colorado

KENTON — Owners of The Kenton Times have purchased the Alamosa, Colo., Daily Courier.

The Elwood Publishing Co., which owns the Elwood, Ind., Call-Leader and the Kenton paper, purchased the Colorado paper from the Ray Fletcher family. The Elwood company is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barnes of Elwood and their sons, Charles and Jack. The firm also has controlling interest in the Pratt, Kan., Tribune. Charles Barnes and his wife plan to move from Kenton to Alamosa where he will become manager of the Courier.

WEINTRAUB MEMORIAL

Friends from Marion will attend services Sunday in Columbus for the unveiling of a stone at Tifereth Israel Cemetery to honor the memory of Harry Weintraub. At the time of his death, April 22, 1952, he was retiring president of the Marion Congregation of Israel, and he was a past president of B'nai B'rith Lodge here. Time of the ceremony will be Sunday noon.

Crawford County Sanitarian Named

BUCYRUS—New sanitarian of Crawford County is Charles R. Bragg, 30, who has been doing field work and receiving training as a sanitarian in Lorain County.

Bragg, a graduate of the University of West Virginia and a World War II veteran, began his duties here yesterday. He succeeds C. C. Richard, who has resigned.

Richard's resignation was accepted by the Crawford County Board of Health at its last meeting. His future plans were not announced. Richard had held the post for the past 18 years.

Galion, Sulphur Springs Girls Will Model at Fair

BUCYRUS — Two Galion girls and a Sulphur Springs girls' 4-H club member will represent Crawford County in the 4-H club style review Friday at the Ohio State Fair in Columbus.

The representatives, selected in a county-wide fashion show held earlier this summer at Sulphur Springs, are Marilyn Long of Sulphur Springs and Mary Louise Gates and Mary Jane West, both of Galion.

Miss Long will model her complete costume; Miss Gates, her school dress; and Miss West, a formal gown. The girls will be accompanied to the fair by Miss Louise Augenstein, county home demonstration agent.

Police Hunting Two Escapees In Assault Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Police hunted two Mansfield Reformatory escapees today as suspects in a criminal assault on a Columbus mother.

A 38-year-old woman was knocked unconscious in the front yard of her home shortly after midnight, police said, carried away in a panel truck and then assaulted by her two abductors.

She was freed in the vicinity of her home after her $85 wrist watch and a small amount of cash was taken from her.

Authorities said the two men they were hunting escaped from the reformatory Tuesday in an automobile stolen from a guard. Both men had been admitted to the institution from Franklin County for burglary and grand larceny. Both, police said, are former inmates of mental institutions.

The reformatory guard's stolen car was found abandoned here, in the same area where a panel truck was stolen.

The assault victim, living in the Hilltop area, was attacked while returning to her home from an industrial plant where she is employed. She was treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Earlier, Supt. Arthur Glattke reported Edgar Allen Poe, 22, and Ralph Jones, 19, had escaped from the reformatory while working on a greenhouse detail.

Panel Discussions Feature Marion's Teacher Workshop

Marion's third annual pre-school workshop goes into it's second day today as panel discussions began in ten areas of teaching.

The workshop, held at Harding High, opened yesterday with a luncheon honoring new teachers in the city schools. Dr. E. E. Lewis, emeritus professor of education at Ohio State University, spoke to workshop members ' st night at the opening dinner meeting.

Panel discussions will continue through tomorrow under the workshop's general theme of "Creating a Good Environment for Learning and Living." A summary session will conclude the panel discussion tomorrow.

Robert E. Lucas, field service director for the Ohio Education Association, will speak at tonight's dinner meeting. Lucas formerly supervised elementary education for the State Department of Education.

Approximately 260 teachers, consultants, students and parents are registered for the workshop. It is sponsored by the Marion City Board of Education and the Marion Education Association.

Hungry Burglar Steals Wine, Ham From Bar

Police today are looking for a burglar who last night broke into Tony's Bar and Grill Restaurant at 388 W. Center St. and took 50 cents in pennies, six bottles of wine, and two pounds of sliced ham.

The break-in was reported at 5:56 his morning by William LeVeck, an employe of the establishment. Entrance was gained through a rear door which had been pried open. The place was ransacked.

STEER WINS HONOR

SYCAMORE — The Hereford steer raised and exhibited by Eddie Hart was judged the reserve champion at the Seneca County Fair last week. The 11-year-old owner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hart and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wagner of near Sycamore.

ERIE DIVIDEND DECLARED

NEW YORK — Erie Railroad directors Tuesday declared a third quarter dividend of 37½ cents per share of common stock payable Sept. 30 to holders of record Sept. 10. This brings to total payments to $1.12½ so far this year. Previous dividends of 37½ cents each were paid on March 31 and June 30.

AMVET's Queen

MISS SANDY PENDRY wore Ohio's colors when named "Miss AMVET of 1954" at the AMVET national convention at Miami, Fla. A resident of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., she is 19 years old, is 5 feet 9½ inches tall and weighs 124 pounds. She has visited in Marion and "borrowed" Marion as her home town address in entering the contest. Runners-up in the contest were Miss Joan Carmody of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Miss Carol Ochard of Battle Creek, Mich.

Stolen Auto Recovered

An automobile stolen from in front of Smitty's Bar and Grill on S. Main St. shortly after 8 p.m. Tuesday was recovered four hours later by Marion police.

Jack F. Carr of 448 E. Church St. reported the theft of his 1953 model car to police at 8:08 p.m. At 12:32 p.m., police found the car abandoned on the parking lot of the Erie Railroad freight depot on W. Center St.

Two Ohioans To Attend National Plowing Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two Western Ohioans will represent the state at the National Plowing Matches after eliminations yesterday at Ohio State University.

H. T. Neat of Van Wert County topped all entrants in the level land plowing match, staged on the Ohio State University farm.

In the contour plowing match, Darke County's Ned Rhoades won top honors over entrants from the rest of Ohio.

The two winners will compete in the national contest at Olney, Ill., Sept. 18.

Boat Stolen at Reservoir

Theft of a boat valued at $275 from the Delaware Dam area north of the Whetstone Creek was reported Tuesday to the Marion County sheriff's office by Donald Demorest of near Waldo.

Demorest told deputies that the boat, a 14-ft. aluminu one, was stolen sometime between Wednesday evening and Sunday afternoon.

Ohio Voters To Decide Nov. 2

Four-Year Terms for State Officials?

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio voters have a couple of good questions to answer in the Nov. 2 election.

They are: Should elective state officials serve four-year terms? Should legislators serve for four years?

The last General Assembly placed the separate questions on ballots in the form of proposals to change the state constitution.

Approval would signal the election in 1958 of these officials for four years: Governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, attorney general, state representatives and state senators. The governor only would be limited to two consecutive two-year terms.

Rejection would continue two-year terms for those officials. Only the state auditor now serves a four-year term.

To stimulate interest in the proposals, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce drafted a set of arguments for and against them. The chamber stressed that the action was a public service and not a policy statement.

The arguments go like this:

For: Longer terms would give office holders a better chance to grasp problems and institute policies than two-year terms when the second year often is devoted to re-election campaigning.

Against: They simply would cement unsatisfactory officials in office for four years instead of two.

For: Heads of departments appointed by the governor would be less subject to wholesale changes that disrupt service and efficiency during shifts in administrations.

Against: Four years would afford ambitious officials opportunities to build powerful machines for re-election or political preferment.

For: New York and Pennsylvania report general approval of four-year terms for goveror in those states.

Against: Ohio traditionally has circumscribed the powers of elected state officials and only gradually shown a willingness to extend their authority.

For: Four-year terms would improve the calibre of legislators because some members now are in Columbus only for a six-month period during a regular session held every two years.

Against: Many competent state representatives and senators consistently win re-election for two-year terms to develop experience through continuity in office.

For: Four-year terms would enhance the standing of legislators and give the General Assembly greater dignity in the eyes of the public.

Against: The Legislature historically and traditionally represents the oft-rapid changes and shifts in public opinion and longer terms would make the Assembly a more static branch of government.

For: Legislative issues are growing more complex and four-year terms would help Assembly members acquire information to deal with them and obtain maturity in office.

Against: Frequent elections tend to keep legislators in close touch with the public and longer terms would slow the process of re-electing satifactory officials and retiring from office those who are unsatisfactory.

Missionary Conference Scheduled at Ranchette

Annual Labor Day Missionary Conference at the Brookside Bible Ranchette near Cardington, sponsored by Emmanuel Baptist Church of Marion, will open Friday night, with guest speakers and showing of pictures from mission fields.

Miss Avis Kint, formerly of Marion, who has been serving in Nigeria in Africa, will speak Friday night and show slide pictures of the work there. She is a hospital technician dealing with the disease of leprosy.

The Emmanuel Church pastor, Rev. C. E. Hershey, director of the ranchette, will be in charge Saturday night and show colored slide views of Central and South America and islands which he photographed on a missionary tour. His talk will center around the "need for the Gospel" in these areas. A baptismal service is set for Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

At 10:30 a.m. Monday, Miss Kint will speak on missions, and at 11 Rev. Ralph Nordlund of Fostoria will present Bible study, and a special musical service will be held at 3 p.m. A "picnic fellowship" plan will be carried out for both noon and evening meals, Rev. Hershey announced.

Russians Jubilant Over EDC Failure

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda exultantly proclaimed yesterday the "victory" over EDC in the French Assembly must be exploited "to hinder the remilitarization of Bonn (Western Germany) in any other form."

"It is necessary to exert every effort," declared the official newspaper of the Soviet Communist party.

ASK FOR TOYS

BUCYRUS — Members of the Ritual of Jewels and Exemplar chapters of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority here already are urging Bucyrians to contribute toys for distribution to needy children next Chrsitmas. Chapter members said today that all kinds of toys are needed for repair by city firemen and donations will be accepted at the fire department. Last year, the Exemplar chapter distributed repaired toys to about 250 children.

Arkansas Stockmen Cut Trees for Cattle Feeding

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Stockmen and state drought representatives reported that "for the first time in their memory "we have seen trees on farms hacked down to feed cattle."

State Sen. Marvin Melton of Jonesboro, Ark., chairman of Gov. Francis Cherry's Drought Committee, said yesterday that "cattle are eating the leaves of the downed sassafras and small pine trees with relish."

Self-Evident Truth

In his address to the American Legion convention, President Eisenhower recited a list of self-evident truths sometimes overlooked in the shuffle of current events.

He reminded his listeners that the Communist dictatorship is determined to establish its sway over the entire world, if it can; that it will use any means to reach its goal; that the free world must cooperate in the defense of its freedom, and that the resources of the free world must be preserved and extended to develop the many kinds of strength required "to oppose successfully the broad front of Communist pressure."

The President did not discuss these resources to any great extent, other than to remind his listeners that the United States had made important progress in the development of its military strength. But there is one resource in particular that should not be neglected — one more self-evident truth.

President Eisenhower spoke of the necessity for Legionnaires to "preach, demonstrate and tirelessly sell the vitality and value of freedom." Elsewhere, he said that "for every spokesman of freedom that we assign to the struggle for men's minds and hearts, the Communists assign scores. . .for every word we utter in the cause of liberty and faith, they utter thousands to extol their system and to degrade and defame the values of the free."

The President paints too dark a picture here. While it is true the Kremlin carries on a vast project of propaganda, it is also true that the Kremlin needs a vast project in order to conceal the truth.

The United States and its allies in the free world, on the other hand, do not need to conceal the truth. Their only purpose in carrying on the war of words is to reveal the truth. Every citizen is a voluntary propagandist in behalf of freedom and in opposition to oppression.

Shivers, in the Heart of Texas

The Texas election is being combed over for evidence that voters are for or against President Eisenhower. This looks like a waste of time.

Interpretations of Texas politics are as tricky as the pitfalls in the adage that "as Maine goes so goes the nation." But the re-election of Gov. Allan Shivers does signify that his fellow Texans continue to think well of him and his policies.

One of the policies was to support Dwight Eisenhower for the presidency in 1952. It was Gov. Shivers' belief then and it is his belief now that the wing of the Democratic party that beats in rhythm with the political thinking of Adlai Stevenson is not the wing that beats in rhythm with the majority of Texas Democrats or the majority of Texans.

Gov. Shivers regards himself as having a greater responsibility to his state than to the party that claims his state as its largest geographic preserve, hence his decision to support the presidential candidate who believed Texas should have a clear title to the tidelands. He is a Democrat, but a states' rights Democrat. He is by no means the kind of a Democrat who can be led by the nose wherever the Democrats who have controlled the party conventions for the last five times decide to go. There is no penalty for this attitude in Texas.

Shivers gambled that this would be so in 1952 and won. He gambled that it would be so in 1954 and won. His re-election reveals more about Texas than it reveals about President Eisenhower.

End of a Reform Movement

When the National Labor Relations Board ruled last week that the port of New York would be controlled for at least the next two years by International Longshoremen's Association, the end of a reform movement was in sight.

It is never easy to face up to this when it happens, but all reform movements are bitterly resisted and many of them are overwhelmed. This is what happened when American Federation of Labor ousted the notoriously corrupt I.L.A. last fall and undertook to substitute a new union as bargaining agent for the port of New York.

The I.L.A., fortified by John L. Lewis and the financial reserves of United Mine Workers, refused to accept the ouster. After two elections, NLRB had no choice but to certify it as bargaining agent. Except for the fact the new A.F.L. union will remain in existence, the port of New York now will return to the same corrupt setup it had before state and federal investigators revealed such fantastic corruption and collusion that a national scandal was precipitated.

The national scandal was based on the fact that one corrupt union in a strategic position was extorting money from every citizen and every organization using the port of New York or affected by what happened there. The revelation of this gigantic racket feeding on the U.S. economy became another powerful reason for opening the St. Lawrence River to deep-water vessels, so the Midwest would not be wholly at the mercy of the "Tough Tony" Anastasia of the racket-ridden New York waterfront.

As of now, the "Tough Tony" element is triumphant The reforms have nothing to show for their trouble but a few convictions and many volumes of shocking testimony.

Clearing the Deck

French Nationalism Factor in EDC Defeat

Nationalism, which burns so fiercely in the hearts of men in the smallest as well as the largest countries of the world, has not died in France. This primarily is why the European Defense Community agreement failed of ratification in the French Parliament.

The wonder is that the British and American officials who wanted France to ratify it have not realized how the same nationalism which fights for freedom against colonialism in Morocco, Tunis, Egypt and Indochina cannot be submerged in a superstate when a democracy as old as France is asked to give up its sovereignty.

Neither Britain nor the United States, if the tables were turned, would agree to any such structure as a merged military force with a supranational parliament above it.

But the Eisenhower administration felt committed to the so-called "EDC" (European Defense Community) as it was sponsored by the Truman administration. The British government felt it had to urge France to ratify EDC to please the United States but actually had no heart for the plan either and never joined it.

SOLDIERS FIGHT best under their own flag and not under some hybrid banner. They fight with the greatest spirit under their own commanders as a separate army.

Military men in every country in Europe, as well as in the United States, have felt that the idea of a single army rather than a federation of armies was a mistake. But they have maintained a tactful silence in deference to their political leaders.

Thus, valuable time has been lost as an impractical plan has been dragged through some parliaments only to be snagged finally in the French National Assembly.

The course before Europe now is clearer than ever before. The EDC plan was the first step toward a politically united, single legislature for the Continent, to be known as "United States of Europe."

The analogy to the United States of America has always been fallacious, for the simple reason that in this country many generations of European nationals intermarried and hence enabled a homogenous nation of Americans to emerge.

Arbitrarily to merge Frenchmen and Germans, for example, in different countries in a single government and to deny them the aspirations of national pride and patriotism, was a dream of some internationally minded Frenchmen with more theory than practicality in their makeup.

True enough, the defense of Europe has suffered a body blow because of the defeat of the latest plan in the French Assembly. Incidentally, without the bloc of 100 Communist votes there, EDC would not have been defeated.

Soviet Russia, of course, gains from these developments, but it is at best a temporary victory. For what the French have done must inevitably awaken Britain, America and West Germany as well as France to the importance of forging at once an effective alternative.

THE REAL ANSWER lies in the immediate admission of West Germany to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It may be a risk to restore full sovereignty to the West Germans, but the French cannot, on the one hand, refuse to let German troops come into their territory as a part of a European defense army and at the same time object to the building of a German national army to stand between France and the invader from Soviet Russia.

Either the Germans are to be trusted, or the Communists will rule central Europe and threaten France from a vantage point on the Rhine.

Germany can be trusted as long as it retains a republican form of government. Germany would have been able to prevent Hitler from grabbing power in 1933 if the western nations had not stood off and declined to give the necessary economic and moral support to the Weimar Republic.

Britain, France and America have their chance now to solidify Europe's defenses, or they will aggravate the weakened condition of the Continent, which may tempt the Red army to march as did Hitler. Such a miscalculation could bring on a third world war.

That is why, with EDC out of the way, the decks have been cleared for action on an alternative — returning Germany to an independent position in Europe.

It's a chance to take, but not nearly as dangerous a chance as leaving Europe at the mercy of Soviet Russia.

Beware of Head Hunters

By TRUMAN TWILL

Now is the time when program chairmen shuffle through their memos and telephone books in pursuit of talent for the opening of the canned pea circuit.

Until these chairmen have plugged up every hole in their list of open dates, no one is beyond their clutches. Under the rule that beggars cannot be choosers, they will take anyone willing to trade half an hour of chatter for a free meal, both of problematic quality.

It is understood the chairmen shall not be held responsible by their fellow club members for either, because on the canned pea circuit the members take pot luck. If they hit one winner in ten tries, they came out ahead of the game.

If you have caught a fish, have a hobby, ever have taken a trip outside the continental U.S.A., or have remarks to say about anything inside the continental U.S.A., a program chairman is looking for you.

If you have studied the life cycle of the tse-tse fly, collected buttons, can tie your shoestrings with one hand, once knew a niece of Gen. Pershing, can spell backward, are double-jointed, or can wiggle your ears, all you need to do to get a free meal is to advertise your availability.

If you ever climbed a mountain with snow on the top, took part in a conspiracy to overthrow the government, ate live grasshoppers dipped in hot sauce, stayed afloat on a raft for three days, made a million with your wits and somebody else's capital, or studied the folk ways of the natives of Inner Monolia, you are within haggling distance of being able to get a cash consideration with the free meal.

You can offer a reel of motion pictures, a shoe box full of slides, a discourse in which you tell jokes suitable for mixed company, do feats of strength, have a trick memory, or have spent some of the most memorable years of your life doing something glamorous like riding in balloons, you can name your own dates and ask for traveling expenses.

Even the most impoverished way point on the canned pea circuit can dig up a morsel of wherewithall to bait the trap for a special attraction. The sole aim and purpose of these outfits is to keep the brothers and sisters from ceasing to show up at meetings. Hence, the program chairman, who is charged with the duty of flushing out every bird left living with anything that might be of interest, however remotely.

A chairman's dream of success is a season's program that beins with a free monolog by Milton Berle, comes to a climax in mid-season with a speech by the governor of the state and tapers off at the close with a guest appearance of a Hollywood glamor doll who is related to one of the club members. Sandwiched in between are jugglers, contortionists, a touring statesman from Nigeria, a broken-down actor who gives a free tub-thumper on patriotism under the auspices of a trade association, a trio of local junketeers who have been lion hunting in Africa and a curvesome local lady whose poem, "The Unraked Leaf," won first prize in a national contest staged by a flour company. With fifty bucks to spend, the dreaming chairman still has forty left and gets a rising vote of thanks for his parsimony.

It happens only in dreams. In real life, the big attractions always cost money. Only the potboilers come free. If you have anything you might be able to say or do for nothing, watch out. The head-hunters are looking for potboilers.

Midsummer Night's Dream

Ike's 'Batting Average' Put at .646

President Eisenhower batted .646 on his 1954 legislative program, according to Congressional Quarterly's box score.

The President sent Congress 232 legislative requests. Congress approved 150, or 64.7 per cent. In baseball terms, that's a .646 batting average.

Congress rejected 49 requests, 21.1 per cent of the total.

Thirty-three requests—14.2 per cent—were stalled. Congress did not vote against them, but let them die. Three treaties will remain alive during adjournment, but the other 30 points will have to start fresh in 1955.

The White House and the President also complied a box score, arriving at an .830 batting average. This tabulation contains 64 or 65 points—the total has varied—of which 54 are checked off as approved.

WHILE CONRESSIONAL Quarterly counted only clear-cut proposals by the President himself, the White House tally includes about 15 points proposed by other members of the administration. The White House omitted some of the President's requests, and CQ dissected into component parts requests which the White House lumped together. For example, CQ, counted 43 requests on taxes, of which 36—84 per cent—were approved. The White House lists the tax program as one point and scores it as a complete victory.

Mr. Eisenhower also has emphasized approval of his farm program as a major victory. Congress approved 29—85 per cent—of the 34 recommendations on agriculture. That was the highest score in any of the seven major legislative categories. The President's key point—flexible supports—was approved.

It was in the labor category that the President had his lowest score—zero. Mr. Eisenhower proposed 19 revisions of the Taft-Hartley law. None went through.

SECOND HIGH was the 74 per cent score in taxes and economic policy. Besides the 43 tax points, this catefory included 27 recommendations on resources, atomic development, trade, and finance. Sixteen were approved.

Next came education and welfare, a category in which the President won approval for 24 of his 34 proposals, scoring 71 per cent. This area included housing, Social Security, unemployment insurance, health, and education.

In foreign policy, Congress okayed 17—65 per cent—of 26 proposals.

Forty-five requests were submitted in a miscellaneous category, which includes internal security, suffrage, governmental administration, civil service, and postal matters. Congress said "yes" 26 times, for a score of 58 per cent.

Two of four proposals on military and veterans' affairs were approved.

ALTHOUGH PELIMINARY work took place early in the session, most points of the 1954 program were not cleared until the last few months. By March 31, only five proposals—23 per cent of the 214 submitted—had been passed.

Non-legislative events, such as controversy over Sen. McCarthy have attracted attention, but President Eisenhower has tried to spotlight the legislative record as the key 1954 campaign issue.

Before the session started, he said the Republicans would "not deserve to remain in power" unless they enacted the program he called "dynamic" and "progressive." As the session ended, he apparently believed the GOP had met the test, saying: "I salute Congress" for approving "a great program. . ."

He conceded some disappointments, but said he will renew efforts to win approval for such programs as health re-insurance, suffrage for 18-year-olds, revision of the Taft-Hatley labor law, and broadening of the reciprocal trade program. He suggested that Illinois voters send more men "from Lincoln's party" to Congress in 1955 to help him.

An analysis on a different basis found that Congress approved 13 of the 19 major points in President Eisenhower's legislative program. Five of the major programs were rejected, and one was split down the middle.

Most of the 13 victories were compromises, but approached Mr. Eisenhower's recommendations closely enough to count.

HERE ARE THE 13 major programs which, on balance, were scored as wins:

Tax revision, Agriculture, Atomic energy, Social Security, Housing, Unemployment insurance, St. Lawrence Seaway, Foreign aid, Anti-subversion, Highway aid, Debt ceiling boost, Medical facilities construction, Vocational rehabilitation.

The five major programs which were rejected:

Health reinsurance, Taft-Hartley labor law revision, Hawaiian statehood, Postal rate boost, 18-year-old vote.

The President asked Congress to extend the reciprocal trade program for three years and to authorize additional reduction in tariffs. When opposition developed, he accepted a one-year "as is" extension pending congressional study in 1955.

A Sensible Restoration

By MARK DANA

With so many service veterans around about, there should be wide interest in the announcement that the Army is restoring the salute, and no doubt the Air Force and Navy will step up their own punctilious hand-snapping gesture which has sagged a bit.

The hand salute is one of the oldest features of military life anywhere, any time, Legend says that it originated when warriors in helmets raised their visors to reveal their identity and friendly purposes. Normally, it is a gesture of recognition and comradeship between persons in military service.

Although the junior salutes first, the senior is obligated to return the salute, and in theory no servility or subordination is implied when a private salutes a general or a lieutenant thus greets a major.

Since World War II ended, there have been many mistaken and unwise efforts to "democratize" all the armed forces. The salute has been practically abolished, save at base ceremonies. Uniforms of enlisted men have been patterend like those of officers, and well-meaning but over-idealistic persons have been trying to make fighting men of all ranks and grades palsy-walsy. It hasn't worked.

Enlisted men haven't like it, officers have been irked by it, military discipline has gone by the boards. In keeping with this symbolic lapse, our fighting men have grown softer, not tougher, in actual combat. Military esprit de corps has waned.

Enlisted men don't want to hobnob with officers, nor to share their social doings. The reverse is just as true. A good soldier takes pride in his salutes, giving and receiving; it is a symbol of his identification, his belonging. The whole military system has suffered through sentimental but illogical efforts to create a combat force of nice chums instead of obedience and mutual respect.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Marion, in the pre-Civil War days was known for its underground railway and occasionally there were uprisings due to the feeling existing between the slavery and anti-slavery partisans. During a riot in 1839 a "boss" printer, small in stature and zealous for right, when the cry of "to arms" was given, seized two venerable flint-locks and started for the field of action. Being told by one of the men in command "not to make a fool of himself" the obedient little printer-editor "stacked arms" against the north end of Byerly's hotel and rested from further hostilities.

The Golf Lesson

("President Eisenhower's golf form has taken a big drop, due to the fact he has too many national world problems on his mind."—News item)

Instructor—Take your stance, please! No, not the one you take for a video address.

Ike—Okay. How's this?

Instructor—You're all tightened up.

Ike—That's what the postal workers say.

Instructor—Don't be so rigid.

Ike—If you had my job you'd be rigid.

Instructor—Your feet are too close together.

Ike—The last instructor I had told me they were too far apart.

Instructor—He must have been a political enemy. Bring your dogs closer together. There! Don't you feel more comfortable?

Ike—No, but I can see that you do.

-:-

Instructor—Now relax. . . . No, you're not relaxing completely. . . . Forget the EDC crisis.

Ike—How's this position?

Instructor—It's better but you're still too tense. Forget Formosa and the Seventh Fleet. Bend your knees. Your right knee is better but there's too much South Asia in your left.

Ike—That's odd. Yesterday I had South Asia in both knees.

-:-

Instructor—Don't grip so hard.

Ike—I've been gripping ever since that lotus-root dinner Chou En-lai gave to the British.

Instructor—Why don't you keep your head down?

Ike—Mine is a heads-up administration.

Instructor—Do you slice or hook?

Ike—I slice when I worry over Europe and hook when I think about the Middle East.

Instructor—Do you have trouble breaking one hundred?

Ike—Ever since Dulles consented to that Geneva session I have had trouble breaking two hundred.

Instructor—I think you had better just play golf and forget your score.

Ike—A score like mine can't be forgotten without special legislation and nonpartisan cooperation.

Instructor—Now let me see your backswing, please. . . . Stop! . . . Your left arm is all wrong.

Ike—I can't seem to get Mendes-France out of my left arm.

Instructor—Your right arm is too stiff, too.

Ike—It stiffens every time Chairman Mitchell of the Democratic National Committee makes another speech.

Instructor—Well, go ahead with a full swing. . . . No! . . . You're pressing. Nobody's going to pick up your ball before your club head comes down.

Ike—You don't know the tricks of my opponents are capable of.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Hokum From Hollywood

J. CROSBY

"Production of the new 'Lux Video Theater' series will be in the hands of the men who have guided the 'Lux Radio Theater' through two successful decades," it says here in a letter from Lever Brothers which owns the show.

And that, frankly, is what is the matter with it. Lux Radio Theater was predicated succesafully on the assumption that movie stars and movie stories have an irresistible appeal to the listening public.

On radio, this theory was a howling commercial success, if not always an artistic one, and now Lux is hoping that the same techniques — movie stars and movie stories and Hollywood hokum — will be just as successful on television.

I'M BETTING IT WON'T. The first show of Lux's new hour-long, hoked-up dramatic series was a replay of a bit of Hollywood mush called "To Each His Own" starring Dorothy Maguire. It was absolutely dreadful in about every way that a drama can be dreadful—story, acting, direction, production.

It's too bad because the original Lux Video, a half hour show, which emanated from New York, was always pretty good and sometimes very good. Then the half hour show moved to Hollywood and immediately the stories acquired a high celluloid gloss. Now that it has gone to an hour the glare of celluloid is practically blinding.

In "To Each His Own," a paean to motherhood which may set that institution back about a thousand years, Miss Maguire gives birth to an illegitimate child which is promptly torn from her arms by a combination of terribly unlikely circumstances.

For almost every bit of the rest of the hour, she suffers nobly — and in the noble suffering department Miss Maguire has few equals and no superiors — watching her son being brought up as someone else's child, winning him back briefly only to lose him again, and finally fleeing from America to London to — shall we say? — forget.

WELL, SIR, 20 YEARS rolls past (it only seems longer) and we find Miss Maguire in London, now a frightfully successful cosmetics tycoon, waiting in a railroad station for her grown up son, now an Air Force pilot, who still doesn't know she's his mother. She just wants to be near him for a week of his leave, to fuss over him, to mother him, maybe to touch him once in a while. But fate bells her a couple more times before she is permitted to do this.

Anyhow, through the intercession of the Archbishop of Canterbury, she gets the lad married to the Wren of his choice and only then do the scales fall from his eyes. He stumbles out on the dance floor, wrests Miss Maguire from an admirer and says: "I believe this is our dance — mother!" Right there I dissolved into what may have been tears — but on the other hand may not have been. A violent seizure of some sort, anyhow.

Production and direction were woeful. Considering Hollywood's mighty reputation in this regard, the settings, particularly at the opening, were awfully small, badly lit and not very convincing. The acting was perfunctory, apart from Miss Maguire's, and even hers was nothing to write home about.

AND EITHER WRITER or director or both must answer for an endless succession of single camera shots of a lone actor talking to the camera. That's the sort of thing we used to see a lot of when TV had no budgets and no space to move around in, conditions that have long since been corrected. I know of no reason why these limitations should be visited on us again.

James Mason is—as they say on these things — our host and, while he is a very fine actor indeed, he is not temperamentally suited for this role. He was rather haughty about it as if assuring us that he was only doing this sort of thing for the money that was in it, which is probably considerable. No one has ever told me why a drama of this nature needs a host, anyhow.

Hollywood's record in this matter remains consistent. It has yet to produce a single hour-long live drama of any distinction at all.

2 False Alarms Turned In From Davids St. Box

Two false alarms from the same fire box called firemen to the corner of Davids and Wood Sts. early this morning. At 1:01 a.m., they were called out by the alarm, but were unable to locate anyone in the vicinity of the box.

No sooner had the men returned to their station when again the same alarm went off, this time at 1:15 a.m. Once, more no one was around the box when firemen arrived.

Big Surplus Reported In UMW Welfare Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Mine Workers welfare fund reported last night that the discontinuance of two emergency programs helped it to amass a surplus of 1½ million dollars in the year ended June 30. This compares with a deficit of 7½ million dollars for the preceding year.

The discontinued programs provided temporary maintenance for miners' widows and orphans and special maintenance for families of miners undergoing rehabilitation.

Young Parachutist, 9, Leaps Without 'Chute

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)—Parachutist Ralph Rodriguez bailed out, but he forgot an important item of equipment—a parachute.

Ralph is only nine, and in demonstrating the technique of the paratroopers to his girl friend, Lorraine Nelson, 10, he simply leaped from the second story back porch of her house yesterday.

He landed on the back fence. At San Pedro Emergency Hospital doctors took 15 stitches in his back.

Boy's Tip Was Right

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — A little boy rushed in and told his parents "somebody's robbing the supermarket."

"Aw, go on out and play," they scoffed, knowing how he loved to play cops and robbers.

Out he trudged, crestfallen. His first big case and nobody believed him.

T. J. Hubbard, manager of the market, yesterday reported to police that a safe had been opened the night before and $112 stolen.

FORMER RESIDENT NAMED

Merger of Gas Firms Serving Ohio Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and the Natural Gas Co. of West Virginia may merge, a state utilities commission spokesman said yesterday.

Representatives of the two companies and officials of Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. of Pittsburgh met with the commission yesterday in a session closed to the press.

Manufacturers and Natural Gas had contended failure to get emergency rate increases they asked could stop their construction programs in Ohio.

Paul Deaton, commission public relations director, said the meeting was held to work out plans for providing gas for more customers in nine eastern Ohio counties.

He said Ohio Fuel and Natural Gas will work out merger arrangements as soon as possible. Deaton said "technical difficulties" prevented ML&H's Ohio territory from entering the merger.

City solicitors from Bellaire, Martins Ferry and Alliance were among others who attended the conference.

One large factor in the proposed merger would be whether Natural Gas gets an industrial rate increase, reports said.

The commission said it would speed study of the company's application for an $135,000 annual rate increase to industrial customers.

DISCRIMINATION CHARGED

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mid-Cin, Inc., a Cincinnati movie theater corporation, has filed suit in U.S. District Court charging Universal Pictures Co., Inc., of Delaware with discriminating in the distribution of films. The suit, which asked $30,000 damages, charged also that the Colonial Theater, operated by Mid-Cin in Middletown, Ohio, and other theaters are targets of the discrimination.

MISS MARY SUE PILKINGTON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Pilkington of near Marion, became the bride Sunday of Dennis Ross Irons. He is the son of Mrs. Ross Irons of Ridge Road, Bellevue, O. The wedding took place at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the Green Camp Methodist Church with the pastor, Rev. J. W. Spears, officiating.

Baskets of white gladioli, palms and lighted candles held in candelabra formed a background for the ceremony and on the altar were a gold cross, candles and bouquets of white gladioli. Marking the family pews were white satin bows with greenery. Presenting a program of pre-nuptial music were Mrs. Nina Ruth Hedges, organist, and Mrs. Evelyn Lashey, violinist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white ballerina length dress. A Chantilly lace jacket with long sleeves was worn over the strapless bodice of shirred nylon tulle, and the tiered skirt was trimmed with lace. Her fingertip length veil was caught to a lace hat trimmed with sequins. Her jewelry was pearls and she carried a cascade arrangement of white shattered carnations centered with a white orchid.

ATTENDING the bride as maid of honor was Miss Linda Gilmore of Marion. Her ballerina length dress was of emerald green taffeta with a bolero jacket worn over the strapless bodice. She wore an off-white halo of organdy trimmed with tiny flowers to match her gown. Her cascade bouquet was of Talisman roses.

Lighting the candles were Miss Ruth Burton and Mrs. James Cleveland, wearing flowered dresses and wrist corsages of white carnations.

Jan Irons of Bellevue served as best man for his brother, and ushers were Richard Glasgo of Bellevue and Carl Pilkington of Marion.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Pilkington chose a charcoal faille dress with black and white accessories. Her corsage was of deep red glamellias. Mrs. Irons was attired in a green crepe dress with light brown and mauve accessories and a corsage of salmon pink glamellias.

IMMEDIATELY following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Decorations were carried out in emerald green and gold and arrangements of gladioli were throughout the rooms. Assisting were Miss Virginia Wick, Miss Jean Click, Miss Ruth Burton, Mrs. Sandra Cleveland, Miss Ruth Millisor and Mrs. Donald Dallas.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to northern Michigan, Mrs. Irons was wearing a gray princess style cotton dress with black and white accessories and the white orchid from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return Sept. 5, they will make their home in Ada.

Mrs. Irons was graduated from Pleasant High School and attended Ohio Northern University last year. Mr. Irons, a graduate of Bellevue High School, will be a senior in pharmacy at Ohio Northern University this fall. He is affiliated with Kappa Psi Fraternity.

Out-of-town guests were from Bowling Green, Ada, Van Wert, Youngstown, Clyde, Xenia, Bellevue, Bellefontaine, Mount Vernon, Columbus and Boston, Mass.

At the rehearsal party Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Miss Pilkington presented a Catholic medal to her maid of honor and earrings to the other attendants, and Mr. Irons gave his best man a tie clasp and cuff links, and tie clasps to the ushers.

A potluck dinner for Beta Theta Chapter of Alpha Iota Sorority was followed by a social hour Thursday last week at the home of Mrs. Anthony Caserta of 801 Windsor St. Arrangements were made by a committee headed by Mrs. Harry Peifer. Election of officers will be held at the next meeting in the women's club rooms at the YMCA. A rummage sale has been planned for this month.

—:—

Miss Jo Anne Mochel, a graduate of Pleasant High School this year, has enrolled as a student nurse at the Christ Hospital School of Nursing in Cincinnati. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Mochel Sr. of south of Marion. While in high school, Miss Mochel was a member of the school band and the vocal triple trio. She received her State Homemaker degree a year ago and was president of the Pleasant Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America during the past year. Since her graduation from high school, she has been employed by the Isaly Dairy Co. at the E. Center St. salesroom.

—:—

Mr. and Mrs. George Fies of 357 S. Prospect St. have returned from a two week vacation at Sturgeon Lake, Canada.

SETS RECORD ATTENDANCE

BUCYRUS — The Crawford County fair this year set an all-time attendance mark of about 40,000, Fair Board Secretary James Gebhardt told directors of the fair board at their regular monthly meeting here last week. Total gate receipts during the five-day exposition totaled $13,840, approximately $1,325 more than was taken in last year. Fair board directors said the introduction of night harness racing was largely responsible for the increased attendance together with near-perfect weather conditions.

Adding CHARM to YOUR Home

LIVING ROOM HUMDRUM AND COMMONPLACE?

If it is, chances are you've been neglecting your greatest decorator-ally . . . color. A room, like a wardrobe, should be planned for becomingness, suitability and practical down-to-earth comfort. Remember, a colorless, gloomy room acts as a depressant and has no place in today's bright, cheerful scheme of living.

STRIKE IT UP WITH COLOR

Give it new life, charm and personality! The important thing when planning a color scheme is your own preference. In large continuously-used rooms, muted, grayed pastel backgrounds are best . . . contrasted with dark woods, colorful fabrics. Natural pine walls are ideal in some small rooms, offset by colorful draperies and accessories We've made a point of garnering the finest furnishings we could find to offer you — every piece hand picked for lasting beauty, functional utility and outstanding value. So come in and make leisurely selections for every room in your home.

Pleasant Club Plans Autumn Flower Show

With a theme of "Autumn Serenade" the Pleasant Garden Club will usher in the fall season appropriately with its annual show, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 11 and 12, at Pleasant School.

Ribbons will be awarded to the winners and runners-up in each of the many divisions of the show which is for all resident gardeners of Marion county who are amateurs. All flower and vegetable specimens must be grown and exhibited by the individual gardener except in the artistic arrangement classes where the entry need not be grown by the exhibitor as long as it has been grown out of doors in a private garden. A card must accompany each arrangement giving the name of material used. Only one entry in each class may be made and no exhibit can complete in more than one class.

The show committee will furnish specimen containers, but all exhibits must be completely arranged before being brought to the show. Exhubits must be placed on Saturday, Sept. 11, between noon and 4 p.m.

Refreshments, Music Set

Hours of the show, the third sponsored by the club, will be from 7-10 p.m. Sept. 11 and 1:30-7 p.m. on Sept. 12. Refreshments will be served during these hours and special music will be provided.

On Saturday night, Sept. 11, Mrs. Wade Cozad of Lancaster, O., will be guest speaker for a talk on arrangement of flowers.

All types of flowers and vegetables will be on display in the Nature's Beauty and Nature's Bounty divisions of the show.

In the artistic arrangement class the folowing divisions will be included: The Golden Touch, an arrangement with yellow predominating; Under the Harvest Moon, candles and flowers; Dinner at Grandma's, dining table arrangement using old-fashioned tureen or compote; Sweet as Apple Cider, jug as container- Indian Summer, corn predominating; The County Fair, toy container, for ages 6 to 8; and animal container, ages 9-11; Bright and Early, for the breakfast table, junior garden club only; Great Expectations, bronze and yellow, for garden clubs only; Meditation, arrangement in a Madonna; Mirror Magic, using a mirror; Horn of Plenty, in a cornucopia.

Roadside Beauty, using roadside material; Pleasant Autumn Hobbies, depicting a hobby, for men only; Double or Nothing, pair of arrangements; Romance and Reality, combining flowers and fruit; For the Ladies, a luncheon with one place setting; and Mihiatures, three inches overall.

Special Class Listed

A special invitational class with floral baskets will be open to florists.

Mrs. Ralph Williams is president of the Pleasant Garden Club. Others working on various commitees are: educational and judging, Mrs. Carl Messenger, Mrs. James Watts and Mrs. Carl Hoch; entries, Miss Emma Leffler, Mrs. Gerald Rasey and Mrs. Robert Blank; staging, Mrs. Emerson Dietsch, Mrs. Paul Augenstein, Mrs. W. C. Scott and all members of the general committee; publicity, Mrs. Carl Baseler, Mrs. Starling Somerlot, Mrs. Phillip Daugherty and Mrs. George Seiter.

Premium, Mrs. Marion Craven and Mrs. Henry Dutt; secretarial, Mrs. Gerald Seiter; financial, Mrs. Leslie Bunnell and Mrs. Frank Putnam; hospitality, Mrs. Ray Dutt, Mrs. W. Earl Thomas and Mrs. John Eichhorn; and music, Mrs. Walter Rinehart, Mrs. Giles Hoch and Mrs. Grover Hahn.

Radio Stolen From Car Involved in Fatal Mishap

Theft of a radio valued at $60 from one of two cars involved in a fatal traffic accident last Friday on Route 23 south of Marion was reported to Marion police Tuesday.

The car, owned by Carl Roberts of Delaware, who now is a patient in City Hospital, was parked on the Danner Buick Co. parking lot at Holmes Pl. and Orchard St. after the accident. The theft was discovered shortly before 4 p.m. yesterday and reported to police by Fred Keck, an employe of Danner Buick.

Miss Evelyn Louise Cull, George P. Winkler Married

At the altar of First Church of God in Marion Sunday, Aug. 22, Miss Evelyn Louise Cull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cull of 411 E. Mark St., became the bride of George P. Winkler. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Winkler of Dalton, O.

Rev. Fred Morgan read the ceremony at 2:30 p.m. following a program of nuptial music. Dale Winkler of Massillon, a cousin, was accompanist, and Mrs. Re Williams and Mrs. Vera Hinderer, also of Massillon, sisters of the bridegroom, sang three numbers including "Wedding Prayer."

Decorating the church were palms, a large basket of gladioli, and lighted tapers in candelabra at the altar. Family pews were marked with white satin bows.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white Chantilly lace over net and satin fashioned with strapless basque bodice of lace and triple-tiered full skirt accented with a front panel of accordion-pleated tulle. The full lace skirt meeting at each side of the panel formed a scalloped lace edge the length of the gown. A lace jacket with long sleeves tapering to points at the hands was ornamented with tiny covered buttons down the front and the sleeves.

The Juliet fingertip-length veil of bridal illusion was caught to a crown of Chantilly lace trimmed with rows of seed pearls and sequins, and the bride carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Betty Christman, maid of honor, wore a ballerina - length dress of pink tulle over satin, with strapless bodice, and her headband matched her dress in color. She carried a bouquet of orchid glamelias tied with streamers of pink satin ribbon.

Bridesmaid was Miss Barbara Winkler, sister of the bridegroom, whose dress was styled like that of the matron of honor and was in a shade of yellow, with matching headband. She carried a bouquet of the same flowers with yellow satin streamers.

William Moser of Dalton was best man and Robert Cull, brother of the bride, and Vaughn Kurzen of Dalton were ushers.

With a bemberg dress of grey and yellow trimmed in velvet, the bride's mother wore green and white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. A dress in a pink shade with matching jacket was chosen by the mother of the bridegroom, and she wore navy and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

PLACE OF THE reception following the ceremony was the home of the bride's parents, with 70 guests entertained. The table was laid with a white brocade tablecloth, a gift of the bride's brother who brought it from Okinawa. A three-tier wedding cake, decorated with miniature bride and bridegroom figures and encircled with asters and greenery, centered the table. At each end were silver candelabra with white tapers. The bridegroom's sisters who sang, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Hinderer, Mrs. Margie Bailey, and a cousin, Mrs. Dale Winkler, served.

For a short wedding trip the bride chose a navy blue dress with white accessories, and she wore a corsage of red roses.

Graduated from Harding High School, the bride attended Bliss Business College in Columbus then transferred to Anderson College at Anderson, Ind. where she attended until June, this year. Her husband was graduated from Dalton High School and attended Anderson College. They will make their home at Dalton and the bridegroom plans to resume his studies at either Wooster or Akron.

The rehearsal party was held the evening preceding the wedding at the Cull home. Gifts to the women attendants were pearl necklaces and white nylon gloves, and to the men, cuff links and ties.

Guests from out of town were from Massillon, North Canton, Dalton, Dover, East Greenville, Caledonia, Green Camp, and the Meeker community.

Before returning home from college the bride was honored with a miscellaneous shower by class mates and friends, and in Marion her aunt, Mrs. Herman Berry of Chicago entertained with a shower and party for her pleasure, among the pre-nuptial events with which she was complimented.

Worker Convicted By Hardin Jurors Flees Reformatory

KENTON — James F. Tatum, 26, of Winchester, Tenn., who was sentenced here last fall to 1-20 years on a manslaughter charge, escaped Monday from the Mansfield Reformatory.

Tatum fled with Harold Painter, 24, who was sentenced from Stark County on an identical charge. The pair escaped while going from the farm dormitory to the hospital Monday morning.

The Tennessee man was sent to the reformatory last September after he was convicted by a Hardin County jury of manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting of Richard Burchuel, 25, of Kenton. Tatum's uncle, Lawrence Sawyer, 32, also of Winchester, Tenn., was also convicted of manslaughter at the same time for his part in the shooting and is serving a similar term in the Ohio State Penitentiary at Columbus.

Tatum and Sawyer had been doing roof repair work in Kenton.

LaRue Residents Note Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Allen of southeast of LaRue will observe their golden wedding anniversary Sunday with an open house.

The couple will receive guests from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. at their home.

Both natives of Marion County, Mr. and Mrs. Allen were married Sept. 3, 1904 at the Methodist parsonage in Marion by Rev. A. E. Smith. They have resided in the LaRue community most of their lives.

Mr. Allen is an active farmer.

The couple has three children, Robert of Caledonia, Paul of Urbana and Mrs. Virginia Schrimf of Elmhurst, Ill.; seven grandchildren; and two great grandchildren. Mrs. Allen has two brothers and a sister residing in the LaRue community. They are Harry and John T. Jones, both of LaRue, and Mrs. John Withrow, also of LaRue.

Kindergarten Still Open for Children

Registration of young children for the Epworth Methodist weekday kingergarten classes remains open, it was announced today following a meeting of the board of directors last night. There is room for enrollments particularly in the four-year-old age group.

The kindergarten, sponsored by the commission on education of the church, is open to children of families from the four Methodist churches of the city. Classes start next Tuesday. Five-year-old children will meet Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9 a.m. until 11:30; and four-year-olds, Tuesdays and Thursdays at the same hours. Teachers will be Mrs. Guy Rank and Mrs. Ervin Porter. The board of directors includes Jack Maxwell, president; Mrs. F. E. Shoup of Prospect Street Church, vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth Gerbes, secretary; Harry W. Carey, treasurer and Mrs. George Ball. Mrs. William Leffler is consultant.

Enrollment details may be obtained by calling the church office, 2-2706, or the home of Mrs. Gerbes, 2-6294.

MORROW GOP MEETING

MOUNT GILEAD — Morrow County Republican precinct committeewomen will be briefed on election laws and voting booth procedure at a meeting Saturday at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. F. M. Hartsock, Morrow County GOP chairwoman, in Cardington. Mrs. Florence G. Morris of Toledo, vice chairman of the Republican state central and executive committee, will lead the discussion.

Check Started On Prospective Airbase Sites

WASHINGTON (AP)—An investigator for the house subcommittee on defense activities goes to northeast Ohio today to start a tour of potential sites for two training bases for air force reserve pilots

The Air Force wants to set up two such bases, one to train jet fighter-bomber pilots and the other for troop carrier pilots

Investigator Lloyd Kuhn of the subcommittee, headed by Rep Hess (R-Ohio), will look over seven or eight sites, including the federally owned Ravenna Arsenal grounds

The House Armed Services Committee parent to the Hess group, must approve any site the military wants

The Air Force last week agreed to take a look at the arsenal as a possible site for both bases

Before that, air force officers wanted to install the fighter-bomber base at Youngstown Municipal Airport and the troop carrier facility somewhere between Akron and Cleveland

The troop carrier base would be run jointly with the Navy

Rep Oliver P. Bolton (R-Ohio) and Youngstown officials suggested the Ravenna grounds as a compromise that would still the objections of a number of Ohioans who do not want the bases near their homes

Newark Farmer Loses Eye in Attack by Horse

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—A farm hand lost his right eye near here yesterday when attacked by a horse

The unusual accident happened on the Lewis farm south of here, as Leland Ellis 38, the farm hand, went into a field to remove a calf

The horse and the calf had been field companions for some time and newsmen said some farmers theorized the horse attacked Ellis in an attempt to defend the calf

Ellis underwent an operation for his injuries in Newark City Hospital

Bible Quotes Fail To Win Leniency

CINCINNATI (AP)—'Blessed are the merciful who can forgive false testimony" quoted Fred C Bingham, 29 in Common Pleas Court yesterday

'Blessed are the merciful who give mercy," chorused Lawrence Collins, 31

Judge John M Kenner listened to their pleas and then said

"I don't know how you had time to read the Bible with your criminal records"

He then sentenced the pair to one to five years in the Ohio Penitentiary for housebreaking.

Irish Prefer Fable To Science Facts

ANTRIM, Ireland — (UP) — Science and legend are at loggerheads in trying to explain the secret origin of Ireland's greatest unsolved wonder—the spectacular Giant's Causeway on the coast of Antrim

Scientists hold that the 74,000 separate basaltic columns can be explained by the cooling of lava in ancient days

"No such thing" say the old men wise in story-telling The columns they declare, are all that remain of the home of Ireland's legendary giant, Finn MacCumhaill, whom legend soberly describes as 'a commander in the ancient armies of King Gormac MacArt"

The giant columns of his amphitheater would have remained just so many columns—a geologist's scientific wonder—if the Irishman's affection for the art of story-telling hadn't given each of those pillars a personality And tourists like it that way.

Legend has it that these columns are all that remains of a great organ which the pagan gods silenced when Finn's poet, Ossian struck the false notes that angered them

And the harp that remains petrified in stone? Another lava fossil? Not on your life say the supporters of legend It's the harp whose strings were plucked in wild notes of joy the day Finn beat back the Scots giant who came to challenge his superiority.

Walkout Halts Output At Republic Steel Co.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Republic Steel Corp said today a walkout of cranemen in the open hearth department of its Corrigan-McKinney plant here halted steel production and made 250 workers idle

A company statement said the cranemen 'refused to abide by work schedules set up by the company" and left their jobs last night

It added that a continuation of the stoppage would force other departments to curtail their schedules 'placing in jeopardy the jobs of approximately 6 000 persons'

Republic said the walkout was a violation of the contract with the United Steelworkers (CIO).

Union officials were not immediately available for comment.
